Haga sus Compras Navideñas en la Localidad

Unwrap Chicago

Por: Ashmar Mandou

Con la temporada de fiestas en pleno apogeo, puede sentirse atraído a acabar con sus compras de último minuto dirigiéndose al centro de tiendas. ¿Y como se le puede culpar? Puede comprar todos sus regalos a la vez. Pero antes de que se encamine hacia los grandes centros, le tenemos algunas alternativas.

En honor de la Semana Coma, Beba y Compre en la Localidad, le exhortamos, comprador de último minuto, a que gaste su dinero que tanto le cuesta ganar en tiendas familiares de la ciudad. De acuerdo a la Administración de Pequeños Negocios de E.U. (SBA), un pequeño negocio ha generado 64 por ciento de nuevos empleos pagados el 44 por ciento de la nómina privada de pago de Estados Unidos, Aquí en Illinois, con la ayuda de la Cámara de Comercio Hispana de Illinois (IHCC) el ingreso de comercio hispano aumentó en más de $200 millones en un período de 20 años.

Por lo tanto es seguro decir que el negocio pequeño contribuye a la economía local, llevando crecimiento, innovación y confiabilidad a los barrios. Responsable de la creación de nuevos negocios, el pequeño comercio es el pan y la sal de varios barrios de esta gran ciudad de Chicago.

Esta Temporada de Fiestas apoye

a los empresarios locales visitando sus establecimientos, que van desde restaurantes a clubs de comedia, boutiques y de más. Para empezar, recopilamos una lista de algunos de los muchos negocios que estamos seguros despertarán su interés.

Shop Local During the Holiday Season

By: Ashmar Mandou

With the holiday season in full speed, you may feel compelled to get all of your last minute Christmas items out of the way by heading over to mall. And who can blame you? It's a one-stop shop for all Christmas-related gifts. But before you head over to the larger chained stores, we have some alternatives for you.

In honor of Eat, Drink, and Buy Local week, we encourage you, the last minute shopper, to spend your hard working dollars on mom-and-pop shops across the city. According to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), small businesses have generated 64 percent of new jobs and paid 44 percent of the total United States private payroll. Here in Illinois, with the help of the Illinois Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (IHCC), Hispanic business revenue increased by more than $200 million in a 20-year period. So it's safe to say, small businesses contribute to local economies by bringing growth, innovation, and sustainability to neighborhoods. Responsible for creating jobs, small businesses are the bread and butter of various neighborhoods across this grand city of Chicago.

This Holiday Season help support local entrepreneurs by visiting their establishment ranging from, restaurants to comedy clubs, boutiques, and everything in between. To get you started we compiled a list of some of the many vibrant businesses sure to peek your interest.

MY OPINION: It's been reported that Immigration reform is expected to be taken up by Congress starting next year. It was also reported that the Republican Party and its members in Congress are adamant in their opposition that will give undocumented immigrants amnesty. It's a foolish position for the Republicans to keep blocking amnesty for undocumented immigrants.

WE ALL know that America desperately needs a new comprehensive immigration policy. Why do lawmakers want to bog themselves down for years and years with all kinds of ridiculous legislative maneuvers.

POLITICALLY, what the Republican don't realize is that their position will backfire because it will only energize Hispanics to organized, register to vote and to vote against them. It is a fact that the Hispanic voting power is growing. Hispanic power is the only solution that will speed up immigration reform; and it's the only thing the Republican Party apparently will understand. The Hispanic voters in America will make the Republicans pay for their opposition to amnesty.

WITH AMNESTY, America can stop breaking up families and start building up its workforce in the marketplace where workers are needed. Lawmakers should instead use their time and energy concentrating on their fiscal responsibilities and solve our country's gigantic debt problems.

CHINATOWN held a Business Luncheon, Thursday, Dec. 6, 2012 at the MingHin Cuisine Restaurant, 2168 S. Archer Ave., Chicago with Christopher Kennedy, Chairman, University of Illinois Board of Trustees as their keynote speaker.

Chris Kennedy Tony Shu

WELCOMING remarks were made by Tony Shu, Chairman of the Chicago Chinatown Chamber of Commerce. Chairman Shu introduced Paula Allen-Meares, the Chancellor, University of Illinois at Chicago for a few remarks then Chairman Shu introduced Chris Kennedy to the audience for his presentation.

CHAIRMAN KENNEDY began his speech by introducing Stephanie Neely, Treasurer of the City of Chicago as a long time friend who he met at Smith College in Western Massachusetts. "I understand the importance of commerce and the mission of the Chinese-American community," said Kennedy. He talked about the importance of our ties with China that it's important to all of our interests. "Last year, 3,600 students from China enrolled in our three campuses—University of Chicago, Champaign-Urbana and Springfield," said Kennedy.

WHILE Kennedy was talking, servers were placing food on the tables, but no one was eating while Kennedy was speaking out of respect. Chris told the audience: "I am the eleven child of Robert and Ethel

"IN ILLINOIS, Kennedy said, "only good things happen when a lot of different people work together." Just recently the Chancellor of Urbana, Phyllis Wise, announced the preliminary plans this fall to construct a University office in China.

"IF YOU love this country you must care about our research universities. History teaches us that what happens in Illinois will happen to the rest of the country. If we get stronger, the country will get stronger. If we get weaker, so goes the nation", said Kennedy.

HE SAID that the State [Illinois] is weaker now than it has ever been before; with rising taxes, including a 4% annual growth rate, declining taxable assets and the fourth highest state debt in the country of $270 billion. Job growth is not rising. Jobs are being consolidated. "Our job growth is not bouncing back," said Kennedy.

"CONSOLIDATION is the most important economic trend. The largest grocery store in the United States today is Wal-Mart. Half of the entire food industry today is control by six companies," stated Kennedy.

DURING his speech Kennedy used a visual chart board. After this speech, Kennedy accepted questions. He was very cordial and had his photo taken with anyone that wanted one.

One of the coordinators of the breakfast, Robert "Cooch" Kuczera, read the coloring story book "The Adventures of Toys For Tots", while the "Toys For Tots" officers play acted a role in the story book as the children sat in a circle.

ALL THE guests and children were given a copy of the "Toys For Tots" coloring story book. It's story was created by Jerry Kuczera; and special thanks were given to Liz Padilla, Robert Cooch and Sal Massey, local artist. The coloring book was dedicated in loving memory of AJ Massey.

THE CHAMPION: Juan Manuel Marquez, 39, Mexican, aka "Dinamita" knockout of Manny "Pac-Man" Pacquiao, 33, Filipino, in the sixth round of their fourth rematch Saturday, Dec. 8, 2012 at the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas. With a hard overhand right hand punch to the face by Marquez, Pacquiao hit the canvass out cold and face down.

PACQUIAO laid on the canvass for about two minutes before he was picked up dazed by his handlers. Pacquiao was immediately rushed to the hospital after being knocked out and underwent a CT scan, as a precautionary measure to check for a concussion. Marquez suffered a broken bloody nose, but this fight clinched the challenge who was the better fighter.

MARQUEZ is considered by some boxing experts to be among the greatest Mexican boxers of all-time.

Years Later, Casa Central Receives Playground for Children in Humboldt Park

The founder of Casa Central Social Services Agency, Reverend Daniel Alvarez, a few years ago took the initiative of asking the politicians of the 26 ward to install a playground for children in Humboldt Park. At the time there was no playground anywhere in Humboldt Park for children under 12 years of age. After several attempts his efforts produced no fruit. But the reverend did not give up and continued to insist until he finally saw the product of his efforts thanks to the intervention and support of the new Alderman Roberto Maldonado.

Throughout his life Reverend Alvarez always has a priority, the children, and that's precisely why he wanted a playground in Humboldt Park for the children. "Once in a while one hears complains of people saying that children only watch television and play with electronic games and don't come and play outside. I think we should take the children out and play with them in the park that's healthy physically and psychologically," said Alvarez. "This playground makes a big difference in this park and we feel good for the children because now they got where to play," said the Reverend. The playground is at the corner of California Avenue and Evergreen Street.

Pollution Variance

On November 30, 2012, Midwest Generation, LLC ("MWG"), with sources located in Cook County, Will County, Tazewell County, and Lake County, filed with the Illinois Pollution Control Board ("Board") a petition for variance under Title IX of the Environmental Protection Act ("Act") [415 ILCS 5/35-38]. Pursuant to Section 35 of the Act [415 ILCS 5/35] and 35 Ill. Adm. Code 104, the Board has the authority to grant a variance. MWG requests a variance from portions of the Combined Pollutant Standard, set forth at 35 Ill. Adm. Code 225.291-299. Specifically, MWG seeks a variance from the system-wide sulfur dioxide ("SO2") emission rates set forth in 35 Ill. Adm. Code 225.295(b) from January 1, 2015, to December 31, 2016, with respect to the Crawford Generating Station (3501 South Pulaski Rd., Chicago, IL), Joliet Generating Station (1800 Channahon Rd., Joliet, IL), Powerton Generating Station (13082 East Manito Rd., Pekin, IL), Waukegan Generating Station (401 East Greenwood Ave., Waukegan, IL), and Will County Generating Station (529 East 135th Rd., Romeoville, IL). Consistent with such request, MWG also seeks a variance from, or amendments to, portions of the Board's order in Midwest Generation, LLC – Waukegan Generating Station v. Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, PCB 12-121 (Aug. 23, 2012), in which the Board ordered MWG to comply with the system-wide emission rates for SO2 set forth in 35 Ill. Adm. Code 225.295(b). Finally, with respect to the Waukegan Generating Station, MWG requests a variance from the requirement set forth in 35 Ill. Adm. Code 225.296(a)(2) regarding installation of certain SO2 control equipment on Waukegan Unit 8 by December 31, 2014; MWG requests a five-month delay in such requirement, to May 31, 2015. A copy of this variance may be obtained through the Clerk's Office at the Board, located at: James R. Thompson Center, 100 West Randolph Street, Suite 11-500, Chicago, Illinois 60601 (telephone: 312/814-3620).

The Illinois EPA solicits the views of persons who may be affected by the variance. Address any comments or inquires to: Dana Vetterhoffer, Assistant Counsel, Air Regulatory Unit, Division of Legal Counsel, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, 1021 North Grand Avenue East, Post Office Box 19276, Springfield, Illinois 62794-9276 (telephone: 217/782-5544).

The Illinois EPA is preparing a recommendation, and, unless otherwise ordered by the hearing officer or Board, plans to file the recommendation by no later than January 14, 2013. The record will remain open for written comments for 45 days after the filing of the recommendation. Comments must be submitted to the Board at the address specified above. The record is available at the Board office for inspection, except those portions that are protected from disclosure under 35 Ill. Adm. Code 130. Procedures are available whereby disclosure may be sought by the public.

A hearing may be held after the filing of the recommendation. Anyone may request a hearing. However, if a written objection to the variance and a request for hearing are received by the Board office no later than twenty-one (21) days from the publication of this Notice, the Board must conduct a hearing on the petition.

Coalition Urges Attorney General Madigan to Appeal Decision Striking Down Concealed Carry Ban

The Stop Concealed Carry Coalition of Illinois released the following statement on Tuesday in response to the Federal Appellate Court decision to strike down Illinois' concealed carry ban:

"As the dissenting opinion points out, the two judges who threw out Illinois' law did not take account of the danger to the public from stray bullets, and they ignored the Illinois legislature's determination that carrying weapons has been shown to escalate violence," said Lee Goodman, an organizer with the Stop Concealed Carry Coalition. "The decision, contrary to fundamental legal principles, took away the people's right, through their state legislatures, to make laws to protect themselves that are relevant to the conditions present in each state."

"The two judges who struck down Illinois' law accepted without proof the NRA's argument that guns in public places protect people, and ignored the fact that guns tend to create a greater danger than exists when guns are not present," Goodman continued. "The same judges who just set guns loose on Chicago's streets sit in offices and courtrooms that are protected by federal security guards and metal detectors. No guns are allowed in their building. Isn't it pretty obvious that they know that guns are dangerous?"

The coalition asks Attorney General Lisa Madigan to appeal the split decision of the three-judge panel to the U.S. Supreme Court. For more information, go to www.StopConcealedCarry.org.

Youth Who Overeat More Likely to Take Up Drugs

Kids and teens who reported overeating, including binge eating, were more likely to start using marijuana and other drugs in a new study based on surveys of close to 17,000 youth.

Binge eating - defined by loss of control during overeating - was also tied to a higher chance of depression and becoming overweight or obese, researchers found.

"Physicians and parents should be aware that both overeating and binge eating are quite common in adolescents, and these problems put them at risk for other problems, such as drug use," said Kendrin Sonneville, the study's lead author from Boston Children's Hospital.

"The earlier we can screen for who is at risk, the more able we are to prevent the onset of drug use," she told Reuters Health.

This type of study does not prove that one behavior causes another, but rather that one can be a warning sign of increased risk for the other.

Sonneville said doctors should ask kids and teens about their eating patterns, and parents who notice their children eating much more than usual in a sitting should go to their health care provider. Treatment from a dietician or therapist could help head off future problems, she added.

Her team used data from a large study of 16,882 kids and teens, initially between age nine and 15, who filled out health-related questionnaires every year or two between 1996 and 2005.

At any point during that time, up to one percent of boys and up to three percent of girls said they binged regularly. Those rates were reversed - about three percent of boys and one percent of girls - among kids who overate without loss of control.

During the study period, 41 percent of youths started using marijuana and 32 percent used other illicit drugs. Kids and teens who had reported overeating on surveys were 2.7 times more likely to start using marijuana or other drugs, and binge eaters were 1.9 times more likely to take up drugs.

The findings were published Monday in the Archives of Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine.

Researchers have thought teens who lose control while eating might also be at risk for other impulsive behaviors, such as drug use, Sonneville said. But her findings showed any kids who overate - whether they reported losing control or not - were more likely to start experimenting with drugs. It's not clear yet why that might be the case.

But overeating without loss of control wasn't tied to obesity, so, Sonneville said, it's important to know that eating too much can be a problem for reasons other than weight, and that extra weight isn't the only sign of worrisome eating.

"It may be easy to overlook eating problems in normal-weight or healthy-weight kids," she said.

"We need to think about eating habits even before they maybe affect a kid's weight, but realize these may be a risk factor for other problems down the road."

Opportunities, Scholarships for Latino Students with Disabilities

If you are a student with a disability of any kind you may be wondering what that means in college. College is different from high school in many ways, and a lot more responsibility is placed on you. Accessing the opportunities that are available for students with disabilities and making sure that you get the services you have a right to can often be a difficult process, but this article will help point you in the right direction.

Know Your Rights

During elementary and high school, it was your school's responsibility to provide and make sure you had access to the services you required for any disability - physical, learning, or other. It's a little more complicated in college. They are still required to provide you with services or adjustments you may need, but it is your responsibility to let them know that you need services. Every college or university has these services available; you just have to seek them out. You can usually find information about disability services on a school's website under the "Student Services" or "Student Affairs" tab. If you're having trouble finding the information you need from your school, just ask someone in your admissions office. You will most likely be required to provide documentation of your disability and the services you've previously received.

You are not, however, required to tell your university that you have a disability. According to the Office for Civil Rights of the U.S. Department of Education, "if you want the school to provide an academic adjustment, you must identify yourself as having a disability. Likewise, you should let the school know about your disability if you want to ensure that you are assigned to accessible facilities. In any event, your disclosure of a disability is always voluntary."

Scholarships and Other Resources

Your disability doesn't limit your access to a college education, and the same goes for scholarships. Not only are you eligible for scholarships, but there are scholarships specifically for Latino students with disabilities. There are scholarships specifically available for autism, wheelchair users, learning disabilities, deaf and hearing-impaired, blind, low vision, visually impaired, as well as general scholarships for people with disabilities. Unfortunately, they are not advertised as often as other scholarships because of their specificity, but searching for them doesn't have to be as difficult as it seems. According to Disabled World News, "You want to do an online search for "scholarships for [your disability or condition]." Even if you feel it is something minor, there is always a possibility there may be some financial offers out there you will want to explore further. Disabled World News also offers help on figuring out if you qualify for a disability scholarship.

Helpful Schools
As mentioned earlier, it can sometimes be difficult to find the information you are looking for, but the resources are out there. Be sure to check the college's website to figure out who to talk to about getting the assistance you need. If that doesn't prove helpful, many schools have a department of Access and Disability Services. Columbia College of Chicago and Harvard University are both good examples of providing this guidance on their websites. If you have a disability and you're looking for assistance or services, it's best to start figuring this out early and ask your school officials to make sure you get the services you need to achieve your dreams.
