Morton College Welcomes New President

By: Ashmar Mandou

Morton College's Board of Trustees recently appointed Dr. Stanley Fields as the college's new president during their meeting January 21st. Dr. Fields was selected from an array of highly-qualified candidates. Prior to being selected as President of Morton College, Dr. Fields served as superintendent of schools for Berwyn's District 100. He holds a Bachelor's and Master's degrees at the University of Tulsa. Dr. Fields later earned his PhD in education administration at Tulsa. Dr. Fields took time aside to share his thoughts on his newest appointment and what students at Morton College should expect.

Lawndale Bilingual Newspaper:

Congratulations on being named President of Morton College! Describe your sentiments upon hearing the news.

Dr. Stanley Fields: I am very humbled with the Board of Trustees confidence and trust to lead Morton College.

What are you looking forward to most in your new position as President?

Direct interaction with the entire Morton College Community. This is an exciting time for the school, with recent national recognition for providing a high-class educational experience that is both academically sound and safe for our students. More and more, we are seeing alumni moving on to promising careers or higher levels of education directly-tied to their time at Morton College. I look forward to stepping in and immediately begin working with the community that has made these achievements possible.

What is on your agenda to help elevate Morton College to the next level?

I believe the role of a leader is to expand the capacity of its organization as well as its constituents. I look forward to working with the Board of Education, the school's administration, students, and faculty and staff to work on developing a better outreach program to our high school communities. Morton College has much to offer in providing a great next

Memoirs

By: Ashmar Mandou

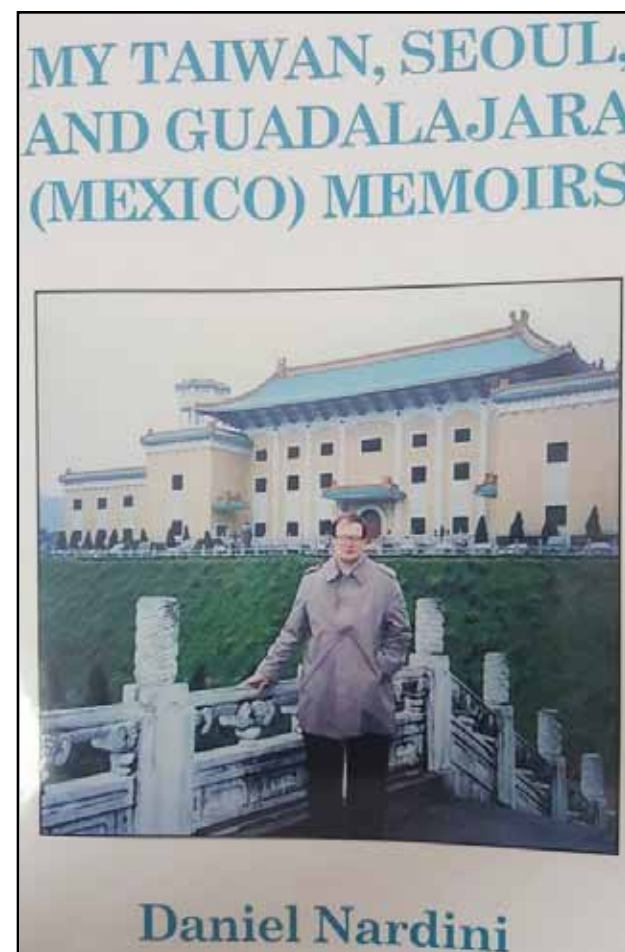

In the third installment of author Daniel Nardini's fascinating time abroad, My Taiwan, Seoul, and Guadalajara (Mexico) Memoirs, delves deeper into the cities that have made a profound impact on his life. "The motivation behind my books is to get my memories down while I'm still here," said Nardini, who visited Lawndale Bilingual Newspaper recently to talk about his latest endeavor. "I don't know what is going to happen in twenty year so that is why I am doing it now. I wrote this book in three parts so that they make a statement and gives each city its own space."

Memoirs

My Taiwan, believe it or not, has been in the making for twenty years. I tried starting again and again and had to place it to the side. Eventually, a year ago, I decided to write it down, for good. And I did. I began with Taiwan, my experiences there during an important part of the nation's history. The second portion of my book deals with a more persona level. My time in Seoul goes into my experiences with my wife and her family history. Lastly, I included my time in Guadalajara when I was on assignment there for Lawndale News.

Time

Well, you see, here is the thing. Taiwan was evolving when I started in 1995. The country started to show the first signs of democracy, but not yet. Another reason why it has taken me this long to write down my experiences was that I wanted to wait and really think about my time there. Now with twenty years passed that has helped me to finally set it down.

City Life

What I enjoyed most from each place is that they had their own character and their uniqueness. There is no other way to put it. That is one of the reasons why I decided to write to down and mixing the stories all together would lose the very character and essence of what they are and were. So that is why I dedicated a chapter to each city.

Mexico

What makes this important in my viewpoint, the whole issue with immigration and our feelings towards Mexico, is that Mexico is a friend, an ally, and a neighbor. Whatever Mexico does affects us one way or another and whatever we do affects Mexico. With this book, I want to make it clear is the one thing we don't want to do is make things worse in Mexico because we don't want them as an adversary.

Advice

My advice for travel writers is to head out there and talk with people. People are the best resource to help add to your experience. They know the country, they will guide you, and they will help you. Gain as much experiences as you can and let those experiences simmer within you. Give it time, you may see it in a different light. Learn from your experiences and from there you can begin to write them down. Author Daniel Nardini currently resides in Chadwick, IL with his wife Jade Nardini. My Taiwan, Seoul and Guadalajara (Mexico) Memoirs is on sale now at Amazon and Barnes & Noble.

Days Left to Sign Up for Health Insurance

"In a few days, January 31st, most residents of Chicago must have health insurance or face new tax penalties," said Dr. Jane L. Delgado, president and CEO of the National Alliance for Hispanic Health, the nation's leading Hispanic health advocacy group. She added, "Making a decision on health insurance is not easy and many are looking for help they can trust. Our bilingual Navigators are ready to help." According to Esther Sciammarella, Director of the Chicago Hispanic Health Coalition, "My New Year's Resolution" public service announcements released by the Alliance and her group encourage residents to make an appointment to receive free enrollment assistance for the Affordable Care Act Marketplace, Children's Health Insurance (CHIP), or Medicaid. The assistance is provided in-person by bilingual Navigators working with the Chicago Hispanic Health Coalition in locations throughout the Chicago area. The Chicago Hispanic Health Coalition Navigator services are free and supported by the National Alliance for Hispanic Health through a cooperative agreement with U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and the Healthy Americas Foundation. You can get help from one of the Navigators by calling 312-842-2340, texting "CHICAGOHELP" to 805722, or making an appointment online at sufamilia.org/Chicago.

step for our communities' high school graduates and we need to work on getting the word out even more than we do today.

Another facet I intend to develop is our work in adult education. There are many residents in our towns and cities who are looking to find a way to improve on their lives. Morton College can, and should, be part of the solution for them to learn an added skill, return to school after years away, or even just gain new insight into areas that interest them. Learning should never stop and I believe Morton College should be a conduit to make sure that it doesn't for our communities.

What would you like students and prospective students to know about you and what you will do for Morton College?

I am passionately committed to assisting current and future students exceed their professional goals. Our alumni have shown what can be done with a Morton College education. For every student who is on campus today, and those who will join our community in the future, professional goals mean more than just a step up the ladder; it means a movement to even better possibilities for their lives, their families and their communities. I really enjoy watching a student take that first step onto campus – filled with dreams on a grand scale – and leave accomplishing more than they ever thought possible. Helping them along their path towards that success is a reward like none other.
