a moment she will cherish for years to come. “It was a surreal moment because I am the first to attend and graduate college. To come from a neighborhood that had limited resources, I had to take what was given to me and make it work. I worked hard, sought out programs, talked with my teachers, and, of course, received so much support from parents.”

As the first member of her family to attend college, Hernandez forged a path that is inspiring her two younger brothers to follow in her footsteps. As a member of Dream Action NIU, she was also an inspiration to undocumented Huskies and their families, advocating on their behalf and bringing to prominence the issues they face locally and nationally. “I was searching for this sense of community. That’s what I was missing from home. I received so much support and help that I wanted to share that with my peers. It was important to create a sense of community,” said Hernandez. Professor Mandy Faretta-Stutenberg at NIU shared her insight into Hernandez’s efforts.

“She is a fantastic role model for her classmates, both in terms of maturity and scholarship,” her professor said. Hernandez has credited many mentors at NIU who helped her along the way. She said they provided the guidance and support she needed, especially as a first-generation college student. But Hernandez said it was her work ethic and personal integrity that helped her thrive and make a difference at NIU. “The first year can be frustrating for many students coming into a big campus. You can feel lost in what we call the Freshman shuffle. You get bounced around from office to office, from classroom to classroom without feeling a sense of connection. I had to be my own advocate and get answers to my questions. I had to build a network of support for myself because no one was going to do that for me. You have to be persistent, you have to take a chance, you have to stay for us,” said Hernandez.

Hernandez’s was a leader among her peers. She was an Academic Career Exploratory Scholars House leader and assisted freshmen as they transitioned to university life. She joined the ranks of Huskie Service Scholars, where she worked with other student mentors and with the Academic Advising Center to help with training and orientation. She was also a native speaker with the Foreign Language Residence program, where she helped students studying Spanish to fully immerse themselves in the language through weekly dinners and teachings about Mexican culture. “I truly enjoyed every experience I gained as a student in NIU,” said Hernandez. Hernandez was able to accomplish all that while pursuing a double major in Spanish language and literature and international politics – while maintaining a 3.8 grade point average. Hernandez plans to work in the nonprofit sector in Chicago after graduation and hopes to attend law school the next year.

By Ashmar Mando

Chicago native Erin Hernandez established a profound impact as an undergrad at Northern Illinois University (NIU) with her altruistic demeanor, persistent deposition, and her loyalty to her community. “You cannot forget your roots no where you come from, you have to share your resources and knowledge with others to help them succeed,” said Hernandez. Hernandez’s passion for education propelled her to become the first in her family to graduate college,

La Corte Suprema de Illinois Escucha el Reto de los Camiones de Comida de Chicago

La Corte Suprema de Illinois anunció el miércoles que escucharía el reto de un propietario de un camión de comida a las reglas de Chicago, que hacen difícil el que estos operen en la ciudad. La ciudad actualmente prohíbe a los camiones que operen dentro de 200 pies de un restaurant establecido y requieren que los camiones de comida tengan dispositivos GPS que transmitan todos sus movimientos. The City will invest $100,000 in Choose to Change, a six-month community-based intervention program that combines trauma-informed therapy provided by Children's Home + Aid, with intensive mentorship and advocacy provided by Youth Advocate Programs to reduce criminal behavior and improve academic outcomes for at-risk youth ages 13-18. Youth are referred to the program through CPS option and neighborhood schools, SOAR centers, CPS Safety and Security, and Juvenile

The University of Chicago Crime Lab has preliminary results that show a 47 percent reduction in arrests for violent crimes for youth up to two years following their participation in the program. The Chicago Sports Alliance provided funding for the first 100 youth of 2018, and the City's investment will support a second group of approximately 100 this year, with additional funding anticipated for 2019. Populares Vitaminas y Suplementos Minerales No Ofrecen Beneficios de Salud, Muestra Estudio

La vitamina que se consume comúnmente y los suplementos minerales no ofrecen beneficios consistentes de salud, sugiere un nuevo estudio conducido por investigadores de St. Michael's Hospital y la Universidad de Toronto. Publicado en Journal of the American College of Cardiology, la revisión sistemática de datos existentes y ensayos únicos de control aleatorizado publicados en inglés de enero del 2012 a octubre del 2017 se encontró que las multivitaminas, la vitamina D, el calcio y la vitamina C – los suplementos más comunes – no mostraron ninguna ventaja y mayores riesgos en la prevención de enfermedades cardiovasculares, ataques cardíacos, embolias o muertes prematuras.

Generalmente los suplementos vitamínicos y minerales se toman para agregar nutrientes a los nutrientes que se encuentran en los alimentos. “Nos sorprendió encontrar tan pocos efectos positivos en la mayoría de suplementos que la gente consume”, dijo el Dr. David Jenkins, autor principal del estudio. “Nuestra revisión encontró que si usted quiere utilizar las multivitaminas, la vitamina D, el calcio o la vitamina C, no le hace daño – pero aparentemente tampoco hay ninguna ventaja”. El estudio encontró que el ácido fólico solo y las vitaminas B con ácido fólico pueden reducir las enfermedades cardiovasculares y la embolia. Mientras tanto, el zinc y los antidiabéticos mostraron muy poco efecto que pueda significar un creciente riesgo de muerte por alguna causa. “En la ausencia de importantes datos positivos – aparte de la potencial reducción del ácido fólico en el riesgo de la embolia y las enfermedades cardíacas – es mejor confiar en una dieta saludable que llenarse de vitaminas y minerales”, dijo el Dr. Jenkins. “Hasta ahora, ninguna investigación sobre los suplementos nos ha demostrado nada mejor que porciones saludables de alimentos de plantas menos procesadas, incluyendo vegetales, frutas y nueces”.

U.S. Life Expectancy is Down Again

The U.S. death rate rose last year, and 2017 will likely be the third straight year of decline in American life expectancy, according to preliminary data. Death rates rose for Alzheimer's disease, diabetes, flu and pneumonia, and three other leading causes of death, according to numbers posted online

Wednesday by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Full-year data is not yet available for drug overdoses, suicides or firearms deaths. But partial-year statistics in those categories showed continuing increases. For decades, life expectancy increased, rising a few months annually year.

But 2016 was the second year in a row in U.S. life expectancy fell, a rare event that had occurred only twice before in the last century. The overall death rate rose a little less than a percent, to about 734 deaths per 100,000 people. The rate dipped slightly in 2016 despite a record number of deaths that year, so its rise in 2017 is more reason to expect life expectancy will worsen

She moved to Chicago 45 years ago and has worked for factories most of her life. Highly skilled bilingual coordinators will explain what documentation is needed, the waiting process, and how to fill out the new online-only application using computers. Through

Illinois Supreme Court to Hear Chicago Food Truck's Challenge

The Illinois Supreme Court announced on Wednesday that it would hear a food truck owner's challenge to Chicago rules that make it difficult to operate in the city. The city currently bans a truck from operating within 200 feet of a brick-and-mortar restaurant and requires that food trucks install GPS tracking devices that broadcast their every move. The Institute for Justice and Cupcakes for Courage first challenged the law in 2012. "Chicago's restrictions on food trucks devastated entrepreneurs looking to climb into the food industry," said Robert Frommer, an Institute for Justice senior attorney, who is the head of IJ's National Street Vending Initiative. "Politically-connected businesses should not be able to use the government to shut out their competition and restrict consumers' choices.

The Illinois Supreme Court has an opportunity to strike down protectionism and stand up for the freedom of food truck owners to earn a living." The fines for violating Chicago's 200-foot rule can total $2,000—over 10 times higher than for parking in front of a fire hydrant. And to enforce the rule, the city forces food trucks to install GPS tracking devices that transmit each truck's location every five minutes. Anyone who wishes can ask for and receive access to this sensitive data. IJ's lawsuit argues that Chicago cannot protect restaurants from competition and that the GPS requirement constitutes an illegal search under the Illinois Constitution. "The Windy City should be just like other places in our nation where food trucks and brick-and-mortar restaurants thrive side-by-side," said Laura Perik owner of Cupcakes for Courage, which has a brick-and-mortar shop in Elmhurst and Oak Park. "I've kept up this fight for years because I love

Chicago and I know that a vibrant food truck industry would make it an even better place to work and live." Through its National Street Vending Initiative, IJ protects vendors' rights coast to coast. IJ's vending lawsuits in San Antonio, El Paso, and Louisville successfully eliminated protectionist laws that banned food trucks from operating near their brick and-mortar competitors. IJ has also filed a lawsuit to tear down unconstitutional barriers around food trucks in Baltimore.

New Report on Senior Health Shows Rural Health Disparities Persist

A new report of seniors in America finds benchmarking the health of seniors in America finds poorer health outcomes for rural senior citizens compared with their urban and suburban peers and increased rates of suicide. An analysis within the report also highlights the risk of isolation and its association with poor health for seniors. The 2018 United Health Foundation's America's Health Rankings® Senior Report provides the latest check-up on the health and well-being of the nation's seniors. Using 34 measures of senior health, the report highlights successes and challenges this population faces on a national and state-by-state basis. Key findings across states show that rural seniors are: ●more likely to be physically inactive (34.3 percent in suburban and 30.1 percent in urban areas); and ●more likely to report a fall (32.4 percent in suburban areas and 29.5 percent in urban areas); and ●seven percent less likely to report receiving a flu vaccination than urban seniors (57.2 percent vs. 61.4 percent, respectively)

Thrive Chicago Anuncia Adelantos para la Juventud

El Alcalde Rahm Emanuel se unió al Departamento de Servicios de Apoyo y Familiares (DFSS) y Thrive Chicago, para anunciar las más recientes inversiones de la Ciudad para adelantar las diez recomendaciones anunciadas en la reunión Thrive Opportunity Youth Summit, de reconectar a diez jóvenes con la escuela y el trabajo. La Ciudad pondrá en marcha los programas Choose to Change [Decide Cambiar] y Neighborhood Reconnection Hubs; dos programas que ofrecen un nuevo enfoque, diseñado para servir a los jóvenes que se encuentran en más peligro en Chicago y establecer el plan del Alcalde de ofrecer una tutoría universal para hombres en áreas de alto crimen. La Ciudad invertirá $00,000 en Choose to Change, programa de intervención en base comunitaria, de seis meses de duración que brinda terapia informada en trauma provista por Children's Home + Aid, con tutoría individual y apoyo para los jóvenes por los Programas Youth Advocate, para reducir el crimen y mejorar los resultados académicos en jóvenes en riesgo de 13 a 18 años. Los jóvenes son referidos al programa a través de una petición de CPS y escuelas del barrio como SOAR, CPS Safety and Security y Juvenile Probation. El Laboratorio de Crimen de la Universidad de Chicago tiene resultados preliminares que muestran un 47 por ciento de reducción en arrestos por crimen serio y violento en los jóvenes, hasta dos años, siguiendo su participación en el programa. Chicago Sports Alliance ofreció los fondos para los primeros 100 jóvenes del 2018 y la inversión de la Ciudad apoyará un segundo grupo de aproximadamente 100 este año con fondos adicionales que se anticipan para el 2019. Hasta la fecha, el programa ha servido a aproximadamente 500 jóvenes en Englewood. El anuncio de Choose to Change fue hecho en la Reunión Opportunity Youth Summit de Thrive Chicago.

Popular Vitamin, Mineral Supplements Provide No Health Benefit, Study Finds

The most commonly consumed vitamin and mineral supplements provide no consistent health benefit or harm, suggests a new study led by researchers at St. Michael's Hospital and the University of Toronto.

Published in the Journal of the American College of Cardiology, the systematic review of existing data and 17 randomized controlled trials published in English from January 2012 to October 2017 found that multivitamins, vitamin D, calcium and vitamin C -- the most common supplements -- showed no advantage or added risk in the prevention of cardiovascular disease, heart attack, stroke or premature death. Generally, vitamin and mineral supplements are taken to add to nutrients that are found in food. "We were surprised to find so few positive effects of the most common supplements that people consume," said Dr. David Jenkins, the study's lead author. "Our review found that if you want to use multivitamins, vitamin D, calcium or vitamin C, it does no harm -- but there is no apparent advantage either." The study found folic acid alone and B-vitamins with folic acid may reduce cardiovascular disease and stroke. Meanwhile, niacin and antioxidants showed a very small effect that might signify an increased risk of death from any cause. "In the absence of significant positive data -- apart from folic acid's potential reduction in the risk of stroke and heart disease -- it's most beneficial to rely on a healthy diet to get your fill of vitamins and minerals," Dr. Jenkins said. "So far, no research on supplements has shown us anything better than healthy servings of less processed plant foods including vegetables, fruits and nuts."

TIF Assistance Will Support Gotham Greens Expansion in Pullman

The development of Gotham Green's 100,000-square-foot commercial greenhouse in Pullman will be supported through a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) plan approved by City Council. TIF assistance up to $3.4 million will help pay for site preparation work, including clearing, grading, environmental and infrastructure improvements. The 6.2-acre project site near 107th Street and Doty Avenue was occupied by a Ryerson Steel factory until 2008. The site work will be performed by its current owner, Chicago Neighborhood Initiative, which will subsequently sell it to Gotham Greens for greenhouse construction. The glass-roofed facility will employ about 60 workers upon completion, with potential for a future, 40,000-square-foot expansion. The $25 million project is planned to produce premium quality vegetables and herbs year-round for retailers, restaurants and institutional customers across the region. Founded in 2011, the New York-based company already operates a commercial-scale rooftop greenhouse atop Pullman's Method Products factory.

Gonzalo Rizo

GONZALO said "I'm off on Friday, so I take my children to the library to check out books for the whole week but on Tuesday they read them all".

GONZALO puts the donated books in colorful crates and monitors these crates to ensure easy access. Anyone can take as many books as they wish. He also accepts all kinds of books to put in the crates. ArboLibro's biggest contributor of books is the Toman librarian, Porta Latalladi, from Toman Library, 27th St. & Pulask Rd. The Little Village Community Council also has contributed books and collects used books for ArboLibro.

"I LIKE ALL kinds of books, especially Spanish books", said Gonzalo. One of his favorite books, in Spanish, that he recommends is, "Cancion del Colibri" [Song of the Humming Bird] by author Graciela Limon. The book is based on records and writings by Spanish priests in Mexico during the time Hernan Cortez invaded Mexico. Cortez was a Spanish Conquistador who led an expedition that caused the fall of the Aztec Empire and brought large portions of what is now mainland Mexico under the rule of the King of Castile in the early 16th century.

GONZALO ASKED: "Did you know that Mexico was spelled with a 'j' as 'Mejico' and not with a 'x'? It was the Spaniards who changed the spelling of Mexico. They changed it to an 'x' because they wanted to conquer and conquered. So please, Mejico as it was." Teno hititlan.

ARBOLIBRO has ten crates of books around the city. The first crate of books was hung in front of Gonzalo's house at 2643 S. Karlov Ave. Another at Gary Elementary School then at Pio Row Park in Little Village, Lara Elementary in the Back of the Yards neighborhood and at Hubbard High School. In the Town of Cicero an ArboLibro book crate can be found at 61st Street & 2nd Avenue, [Cermak & Gude Street Avenue]. The books are there all year long.

La Esperanza de Vida en E.U. Ha Bajado Nuevamente

El índice de muertes en E.U. se elevó el año pasado y el 2017 probablemente será el tercer año consecutivo de disminución en la esperanza de vida estadounidense, de acuerdo a datos preliminares. Los índices de muerte subieron por la enfermedad del Alzheimer's, la diabetes, la influenza y la neumonía y tres otras causas principales de muerte, de acuerdo a cifras publicadas en línea el miércoles por los Centros para el Control y la Prevención de Enfermedades. Datos del año entero aún no están disponibles en su totalidad de drogas, suicidios o muertes por armas de fuego. Pero estadísticas parciales del año en esas categorías mostraron un continuo aumento. Por décadas, la esperanza de vida creció, aumentando unos cuantos meses casi cada año. Pero el 2016 fue el segundo año consecutivo que la esperanza de vida en E.U. cayó, caso raro ocurrido solamente dos veces antes del último siglo. El índice de muerte en general subió un poco menos que el uno por ciento a aproximadamente 734 muertes en cada 100,000 personas. El índice bajó ligeramente en el 2016, a pesar de la cifra récord del muertes ese año, por lo que su aumento en el 2017 es una razón más para esperar que la esperanza de vida empiece.

Fondos TIF Apoyarán la Ampliación de Gotham Greens en Pullman

La urbanización del invernadero comercial de 100,000 pies cuadrados en Pullman, se estará apoyada por un plan de Financiamiento por Incremento de Impuestos (TIF) aprobado por el Concilio de la Ciudad. La ayuda de TIF, de hasta $3.4 millones, ayudará a pagar por el trabajo de preparación del sitio, incluyendo limpieza, clasificación, y mejoras ambientales e infraestructura. El sitio del proyecto de 62 acres, cerca a la Calle 107th y

Doty Ave., fue ocupado por la fábrica Ryerson Steel hasta el 2008. El trabajo del lugar será ejecutado por su actual propietario, Chicago Neighborhood Initiative, quien subsecuentemente lo vendió a Gotham Greens para la construcción del invernadero. La instalación de techo de cristal empleará aproximadamente a 60 trabajadores tras haberse terminado, con potencial para una futura ampliación de 40,000 pies cuadrados. El proyecto, de $12.5 millones, se planea produzca vegetales y hierbas premium de calidad todo el año, para comerciantes, restaurantes y clientes institucionales en toda la región. Fundado en el 2011, la compañía de Nueva York opera ya un invernadero en azotea, a escala comercial sobre la fábrica Method Products de Pullman

Nuevo Reporte Sobre la Salud de Personas Mayores Muestra que Persisten Disparidades en Salud Rural

Un nuevo reporte que compara la salud de las personas mayores en Estados Unidos en función de resultados de salud más deficientes para los ciudadanos mayores en áreas rurales, comparados con sus compañeros urbanos y suburbanos y un aumento nacional en el índice de suicidios. Un análisis del reporte destaca también el riesgo de aislamiento social y su asociación con salud deficiente en los ciudadanos mayores. El Reporte sobre Personas Mayores Health Rankings® de Estados Unidos ofrece la última revisión sobre la salud y el bienestar de las personas mayores de la nación. Utilizando 34 medidas de salud en personas mayores, el reporte subraya éxitos y retos que están cambiando y estado por estado. Los hallazgos clave entre los estados muestra que las personas mayores en áreas rurales están más propensas a estar físicamente inactivas (34.3 por ciento comparadas con el 30.4 por ciento en los suburbios y el 30.1 por ciento en áreas urbanas); y son más propensas a reportar una caída (32.4 por ciento comparado a 28.5 por ciento en áreas suburbanas y 29.5 por ciento en áreas urbanas); y siete por ciento menos propensas a reportar haber recibido una vacuna contra la influenza que las personas mayores de áreas urbanas (57.2 por ciento versus 61.4 por ciento respectivamente).

restricciones de Chicago sobre los camiones davastaron a empresarios que deseaban entrar en la industria de comida", dijo Robert Frommer, abogado senior de Institute for Justice, quien encabeza la Industria Nacional de Vendedores en la Calle, de IJ. Los negocios conectados políticamente no deberían poder utilizar al gobierno para cerrar a sus competidores y restringir las alternativas del comercio. La Corte Suprema de Illinois tiene la oportunidad de acabar con el proteccionismo y declararse en pro de la libertad de los propietarios de camiones de comida de ganarse la vida.

Las multas por violar la regla de los 200 pies de Chicago pueden totalizar $2,000 – diez veces más que por estacionarse frente a un hidrante. Y para hacer cumplir la regla, la ciudad obliga a los camiones de comida a instalar dispositivos GPS que transmitan el lugar de cada camión cada cinco minutos. Cualquiera que lo desee puede pedir y recibir acceso a estos datos. La demanda de IJ alega que Chicago no puede prohibir a los restaurantes de la competencia y que el requisito de los GPS, constituye una búsqueda ilegal bajo la Constitución de Illinois. "La Ciudad de los Vientos debería de ser como otros lugares de la nación, donde los camiones de comida y los restaurantes pueden trabajar uno junto al otro", dijo Laura Pewkarik, propietaria de Cupcakes for Courage, quien tiene tiendas en Elmhurst y Oak Park "He mantenido esta lucha por años porque me encanta Chicago y sé que una industria vibrante de camiones de comida lo convertiría en un mejor lugar para trabajar y vivir". A través de su iniciativa National Street Vending, IJ pide los derechos de los vendedores de comida a costa. Las demandas por vender de IJ en San Antonio, El Paso y Louisville, han eliminado exitosamente las leyes de proteccionismo que prohíben que los camiones de comida operen cerca de sus propietarios. IJ pide también una demanda para derribar las barreras institucionales sobre los camiones de comida en el futuro.

Youth Guidance Celebrates Milestone Anniversary

In May, generous supporters gathered together at the Palmer House Hilton to celebrate the work of Youth Guidance (YG) and the formative journey of its youth during the 2018 Bright Futures Gala. The night's events raised much needed funds that will further support school-based programs that now support 11,000 youth. The programs include Becoming A Man® (BAM), Working On Womanhood™ (WOW), Parent and Family Engagement, Project Prepare®, and Extended Day & Enrichment programs.

Special guests attending the night's festivities were Mayor Rahm Emanuel, Cook County President Toni Preckwinkle, community leaders, and Gala Co-chairs Paul C. and Diane H. Reilly, and Douglas K. Walker. One of the evening's most inspirational moments was when a young WOW participant shared her personal journey of challenges and overcoming obstacles with the help of the evidence-based program. Both BAM and WOW help youth challenge their attitudes and begin to put their substance use. Youth Guidance prides itself on

Graduada de Primera Generación

Por: Ashmar Mandou

Erin Hernández, nativa de Chicago, estableció un profundo impacto como estudiante universitaria en Northern Illinois University (NIU) con su carácter altruista, deposición persistente y su lealtad con la comunidad. “Uno no puede olvidar sus raíces y de donde vino, uno tiene que compartir sus recursos y conocimientos con otros para ayudarlos a triunfar”, dijo Hernández. La pasión de Hernández por la educación la hizo convertirse en la primera de su familia que se graduó del colegio. “Me encantará por muchos años. ‘Fue un momento surrealista, porque soy la primera en asistir y graduarme del colegio. ‘Por venir de un barrio con recursos limitados, tuve que tomar lo que se me dio y hacerlo funcionar. Trabajé mucho, busqué programas, hablé con mis maestros y por supuesto recibí mucho apoyo de mis padres’.”

Como primer miembro de su familia que asiste al colegio, Hernández forjó un camino que inspiró a sus dos hermanos mayores a seguir sus pasos. Como miembro de Dream Action NIU, fue también una inspiración para Huskies indocumentados y sus familias, abogando a su nombre y cabildeando para promover los problemas que enfrentan a nivel local y nacional. “Estuve beneficiado ese sentido de comunidad. Es lo que extrañaba de casa. Recibí tanto apoyo y ayuda que quería compartirlos con mis compañeros. Era importante crear un sentido de comunidad”, dijo Hernández. La profesora Mady Faretta-Stutenberg de NIU compartió su punto de vista en los esfuerzos de Hernández. “Es una figura modelo fantástica para sus compañeros, tanto en madurez como en conocimientos académicos”, dijo su profesora.

Hernández ha acreditado a muchos tutores en NIU que le ayudaron en su camino. Dijo que le dieron la guía y el apoyo que necesitaba, especialmente como estudiante de primera generación de graduados de colegio. Pero Hernández dijo que su fue su ética de trabajo y su integridad personal las que le ayudaron a triunfar y hacer una diferencia en NIU. “El primer año puede ser frustrante para muchos estudiantes que llegan al gran campus. Uno se puede sentir perdido en lo que llamamos el ‘Freshman shuffle’. Va uno de un lado a otro, de oficina en oficina, de aula en aula sin sentir una conexión. Yo tuve que ser mi propia asesora y responder mis propias preguntas. Tuve que establecer una red de apoyo para mí, porque nadie lo iba a hacer por mí. Uno tiene que ser persistente, tiene uno que arriesgarse, se tiene uno que mantener enfocado”, dijo Hernández.

Hernández fue una líder entre sus compañeros. Fue una líder en Academic Career Exploratory Scholars House y ayudó a los estudiantes que entraban a su transición a la vida universitaria. Se unió a los rangos de Huskie Service Scholars, donde trabajó con otros estudiantes tutores y con el Centro de Asesoría Académica para ayudar con el idioma y la orientación. Fue también una parlante nativa en el programa Foreign Language Residence, donde ayudó a los estudiantes que estudiaban español para entrar de lleno en el lenguaje a través de comidas semanales y de eventos la cultura mexicana. “Verdaderamente disfruté cada experiencia que obtuve como estudiante en NIU”, dijo Hernández. Hernández pudo lograr todo esto mientras perseguía una especialidad doble en Español y Literatura y Política Internacional – mientras mantenía un puntaje promedio de 3.8

Erin Hernández

grado. Hernández planea trabajar en el sector no lucrativo de Chicago y después de su graduación para asistir a la escuela de leyes, el año próximo.
