Labor Day Getaways

By: Ashmar Mandou

When you need a day trip from Chicago or a weekend getaway from the bity city, you don't have to go too far. These escapes are within a one-to-three-hour drive and offer a plethora of activities that will reboot your life.

Starved Rock State Park

Located along the Illinois River, Starved Rock State Park features more than 13 miles of trails that twist and turn through 18 glacier-carved canyons. Hiking is the primary attraction with trails for all skill levels. For an easy stroll, try the Aurora Canyon. Up for more of a challenge? Give Lover's Leap a try. Be sure to bring your own water and snacks (and take your trash with you). Birders, bring your binoculars along: Eagles, herons, owls and woodpeckers can all be spotted in the park.

Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Visit Milwaukee, on the western shore of Lake Michigan for a weekend of beer and culture. The city is known for its many breweries, as well as its museums and breathtaking architecture. Labor Day weekend is also fun because it's the annual Milwaukee Rally, when hundreds of Harley-Davidson owners ride in for a weekend of music, rides, and food.

Indiana Dunes, Indiana
The Indiana Dunes are breathtaking beaches along the southern tip of Lake Michigan. There's a 15-mile coastline as well as 70 miles of trails for hikers. The area also particularly attracts bird watchers because of the hundreds of species that visit this part of the lake.

Wisconsin Dells, Wisconsin
If you really want to get away, head to the Wisconsin Dells. If you're traveling with kids, you'll be happy to hear that there are numerous water parks to choose from here, including Kalahari Resorts, Noah's Ark Water Park, and the Mt. Olympus Water & Theme Park. Spend a day in nature at Mirror Lake State Park, or relax by the beautiful Wisconsin River.

Rockford, Illinois
Illinois' third-largest city spent years watching travelers whiz by on Interstate-90 on their way east to Chicago. Now, thanks to a revitalized downtown, an emerging foodie scene, new cultural attractions and beautiful public gardens, word is getting out.

Galena, Illinois
Galena is 163 miles west of Chicago where you will be able to visit shops and restaurants in century-old buildings have long attracted visitors to this town of 3,500. Take time to hike, cruise the river, or sip local wines.

Creating a Company Culture That Lasts

Leading Chicagoland restaurant group Bien Trucha Group may be known for its mouthwatering tuna or jicama tacos and unique flavor profiles at its four restaurant entities (Bien Trucha, A Toda Madre, Quiubo and Santo Cielo), but the real key ingredient to 11 successful years? Its focus on company culture and building a family within its team and its diners. Bien Trucha Group, “Matriarch”/ Partner Dolores Garcia-Rubio; Chief Culinary Officer, Ricardo Garcia-Rubio; Chief Business Officers/Partners, Rodrigo and Julio Cano; Chief Strategy Officer & Partner, J.C. Gonzalez-Mendez and Chief Financial Officer & Partner, Patrick Neary, is sharing their top five tips to creating a culture that lasts.

•Treat Your Team as Family: There should be a level of trust in play that allows the team to rely on each other, build memories, and celebrate successes or milestones the same way you do with family. Bien Trucha Group builds teams that empower everyone by showing the reasons why instead of handing out a book of rules. Encouraging all “hellos”, “goodbyes”, “pleases” and “thank yous” as currency can help create and solidify that feeling.

•Focus on Guests vs. Customer: The restaurant industry is all about creating personable interactions and equipping your team with the proper skills to make guests feel welcome, always. Being aware of guest’s needs and tailoring their experience is how we genuinely care for them. Guests should know they are in good hands and feel a connection with our people and our place.

•Think Five Years Ahead: Every member of our team can help expand and grow the company. We seek ways to harness the collective intelligence and not the “I”. If you develop a five-year plan for your staff, offering constant feedback and allowing them to contribute to the plan, you are more likely to attract talented people that want to share the common thread of development.

•Know When to Reinvent: It’s important for a restaurant group (or any company) to know what attracts guests and when it’s the right time to switch things up. Evolution is in our DNA; understanding how to inspire guests and staff alike is crucial. Everyone must be excited and passionate about true hospitality, the dining experience and our menu offerings.

•Play Hard, Work Harder: At the end of the day, work should be fun. We constantly look for new ways to reward the group and acknowledge their hard work. While we do run the “necessary seminars” (food/wine & spirits) to keep the staff up to date on the latest trends, we also consider well-being. We offer weekly yoga/meditation classes to relieve stress, host unique lessons (i.e. sign language, Spanish, cooking, mixology) to strengthen skills and plan fun fieldtrips to bond as a team (i.e. brewery tours, etc.).

"Senator John S. McCain; I knew him"

By: Raoul Lowery Contreras

United States Senator John S. McCain, 81, died Saturday, August 25, 2018. I knew him.

When the television networks announced that Senator John McCain had won the 2008 Florida Republican Presidential primary, I jumped out of my chair and told my invalid mother that I was sending a donation to his campaign that minute. She asked how much? I said $100.00, she said send him that much for me too. My mother was a lifelong Kennedy Democrat so her pledge surprised me, her lifelong Republican son. She liked Republican McCain because SHE was a member of the "Greatest Generation" and she adored military heroes. John McCain was a military hero in her mind, in my mind and in the minds of millions of Americans.

Survival of more than five years as a prisoner of war during much of the Vietnam War made him and fellow American prisoners' heroes by any definition.

Being a journalist, TV commentator, radio talk show host and newspaper columnist as well as a Republican campaign professional for almost 50 years, I lived and breathed the 2008 Presidential campaign. Moreover, I didn't think much of Democrat Barack Hussein Obama.

McCain ran for President in 2000; the year I supported eventual winner George W. Bush. The media loved McCain. Media attached themselves to McCain -- the quintessential political maverick -- in droves; everywhere he went hundreds of journalists followed him and everything he said. John McCain looked like he might knock off Establishment favorite, Texas Governor George W. Bush.

Then came the South Carolina Republican Primary where the media suggested McCain had a real shot at winning. He didn't win; South Carolina turned on hero McCain by voting for Bush.

McCain was left standing alone.

On a warm September 2000 day in San Diego my better half and I attended a fundraiser for San Diego Congressman Brian Bilbray at a beach hotel that featured Senator John McCain. Before the luncheon speech, I asked Congressman Bilbray if he would introduce me to the Senator as I had never met him. Sure. We walked over to the Senator and he took my out-stretched hand in both his hands.

"I served under your father (Admiral John S. McCain Jr. was the Commander of all Pacific forces including my Marines); smiling, I continued, "I would have served under you if you had been in the military." Without blinking an eye, United States Senator John McCain looked at me and said, "F-ing Marine."

Both the Senator and I laughed; everyone in the room looked over. The Congressman looked like he was experiencing cardiac arrest. The Senator and I exchanged a Mexican "abrazo" (ah-bra-so) -- a man's hug -- and we laughed again.

When the lunch was over, we walked out of the hotel and standing alone in front was Senator McCain waiting for his car. No entourage, no gaggle of media. He stood alone. We stopped and talked with him, just the three of us. My better half had bought his new book in New York City just weeks before and he had signed it at the Barnes and Noble bookstore in the Twin Towers (World Trade Center) of New York City which would be destroyed a year later on another warm balmy September morning.

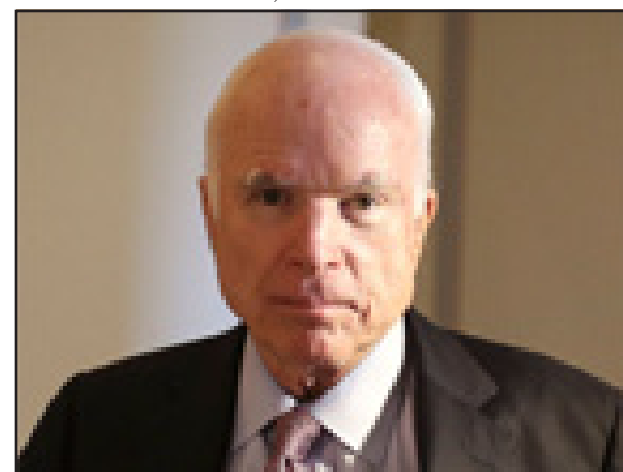

When the valet brought his car, the Senator gave me another "abrazo" and said goodbye with, "Be well, Marine."

Those few minutes I spent with John McCain were, in my experience, priceless. I have recounted the story many times since, especially to military folks. Everyone laughs. One exception: U.S. Senator John Kerry; he didn't laugh when I told him the story. I'm glad Bush beat him in 2004; no sense of humor. Arizona's United States Senator John McCain became my personal hero that day in 2000 in San Diego. When Presidential candidate Donald Trump insulted and belittled John McCain for not being a "hero" because he, Trump, only admired men who were not captured, I blew a fuse.

Trump's dislike of John McCain continues even as the Senator's life ended Saturday afternoon. That is shameful; that shows America Trump's character.

When, then, one compares character of Senator John McCain with anyone else, one can find few men who measure up to the Senator and what he went through over the 1800 days of torture, beatings, broken bones suffered by American prisoners held by Vietnamese Communists. Real men must be measured by standards Senator John McCain left us as his legacy. I wish I could live up to the standards he set. I honor his life and his service to our country. Oorah!

Male Workers Say #MeToo After Ongoing Sexual Harassment from Coworkers

Centro de Trabajadores Unidos along with Rodrigo, a worker formerly employed by The Purple Pig Restaurant, held a press conference with lawyers from the Raise the Floor Alliance, Alderwoman Sue Sadlowski Garza, faith leaders, workers and community members to announce the filing of a EEOC (Equal Employment Opportunity Commission) sexual harassment charge against the popular downtown restaurant on the Magnificent Mile. As a busboy, Rodrigo, along with many of his coworkers endured ongoing sexual harassment from other coworkers for months. Each time he attempted to report the sexual harassment to management, his complaints were dismissed and even met with laughter. Advocates at the press conference called on restaurant owner Jimmy Bannos Jr. to do the right thing and make sure the abuse ceases to continue at any of his restaurants. Several male workers formerly employed by The Purple Pig Restaurant have claimed they endured sexual harassment while working at The Purple Pig Restaurant. These ex-workers are publicly calling for accountability from this restaurant and demanding that the owner and head chef, Jimmy Bannos Jr., take a stand against workplace sexual harassment during this #MeToo moment. While living in New York City, Jimmy Bannos Jr. worked under and was mentored by famous chef, Mario Batali. "During my employment at Purple Pig, I suffered sexual harassment at the hands of 3 co-workers. When I informed management of harassment, my complaints fell on deaf ears and the harassment continued. The harassment affected me so much that I had to quit my job. The sexual harassment that I suffered was part of a toxic culture of abuse and intimidation. Here, workers cannot take breaks, they cannot eat their lunch, nor can they use the bathroom without fearing being fired," said Rodrigo, former Purple Pig worker. When wrapping up the press conference, Cinthya Rodriguez, Labor Organizer at Centro de Trabajadores Unidos, took a moment to remember all those who have been affected by sexual harassment and gender based violence at their workplace. "In this moment we want to honor, remember and hold space for all of those individuals who are facing abuse and harassment in the workplace but for many reasons have not been able to come forward about what is happening-- have not been able to report it. The three out of four survivors of gender violence that do not come forward about what has happened to them for fear of being retaliation, for fear of being blacklisted in other industries or companies or for fear of being fired."

HEALTH & WELLBEING

Healthy Eyes for Back to School

By Dr. Linda Chous,
chief eye care officer,
UnitedHealthcare
Edited by Lawndale
Bilingual Newspaper

August marks back-to-school season and Children's Eye Health and Safety Month, an ideal time to get your child's eyes checked. Good eye health is important, in part because 80 percent of what children learn is through their eyes. The American Optometric Association recommends that a child's first comprehensive eye exam should occur between 6 months and 12 months, again at age 3 and before entering school at age 5 or 6. However, despite these recommendations, more than one-third of Americans incorrectly believe children should receive a first comprehensive eye exam at age five or later, according to a recent UnitedHealthcare survey. As you plan back-to-school shopping, class orientation and any needed immunizations, schedule an appointment for your child to receive a comprehensive eye examination, especially if he or she experiences any of the following:

•Difficulty hitting or catching a ball: If your child regularly misses or drops the ball, it's possible that vision impairment might be affecting hand-eye coordination. This could also be due to a lazy eye, otherwise known as amblyopia. Amblyopia is when one eye is favored over the other, which can affect depth perception, making it difficult to assess objects in front of you.

•Squinting while reading

or watching television: Ask your child if the text or screen is blurry or if reading gives them a headache. A "yes" answer could indicate an underlying vision problem.

•Issues watching 3D movies: 3D movies require eyes to work together as a team to process information, so difficulty viewing 3D content can be a sign of underlying vision issues. After watching a 3D movie, look to see if your child feels any discomfort or dizziness, or is unable to process 3D content.

Also, watch for digital eye strain, which is caused by prolonged use of computers, smartphones or tablets, and can cause symptoms such as sore, tired, watery or dry eyes, headache, or sore neck, shoulder or back. Help your child practice healthy vision habits by keeping computer screens at least 30 inches away from their eyes; resting their eyes every 20 minutes; and blinking frequently to avoid dry eyes. Practice the 20/20/20 rule: every 20 minutes, take 20 seconds and look at something 20 feet away. Make an appointment for your child now as part of this year's back-to-school routine. Together with your child's eye doctor, you can help make sure your child is ready for school and ready to learn.

Medical Corner: National Immunization Awareness Month

By: Ashmar Mandou

August is National Immunization Awareness Month and is a topic infused with confusion, hesitation, and doubt. Dr. Hari Srinivasan, Chairman, Program Director and Attending Neonatologist, Department of Pediatrics, Sinai Children's Hospital, endeavors to alleviate misleading information about immunizations and provides tips for a healthy school year.

Lawndale Bilingual News: How do vaccines work? Do they work against viruses and bacteria?

Dr. Hari Srinivasan:

When disease germs enter your body, they start to reproduce. Your immune system recognizes these germs as foreign invaders and responds by making proteins called antibodies. Vaccines are made from the same germs (or parts of them) that cause disease. But the germs in vaccines are either killed or weakened so they won't make you sick. Vaccines containing these weakened or killed germs are introduced into your body. Your immune system reacts to the vaccine in a similar way that it would if it were being invaded by the disease — by making antibodies. These antibodies stay in your body for a very long time protecting you against the disease. Yes, vaccines work against both bacteria and virus.

Why aren't all vaccines 100 percent effective?

Vaccines are designed to generate an immune response that will protect the vaccinated individual during future exposures to the disease. Individual immune systems, however, are different enough that in some cases, a person's immune system will not generate an adequate response. As a result, he or she will not be effectively protected after immunization.

Why is there a new flu vaccine every year?

Every year, the flu virus undergoes minor changes to its protein structure. The antibody which was produced by the previous year's infection is not effective because it cannot recognize this changed virus. Therefore, we need a new flu vaccine every year.

There are parents concerned that vaccines are linked to long-term health problems such multiple sclerosis, diabetes, and autism. Is that true?

No, it is not true. Every year hundreds of million people are vaccinated around the world. Very few of these individuals develop diseases like multiple sclerosis, diabetes and autism. The potential links between vaccines and these diseases have been thoroughly explored and study after study has shown no link. It's likely that this misconception persists because of the coincidence of timing between early childhood vaccinations and the first appearance of symptoms of autism.

What advice can you give parents to ensure their child has a healthy school year?

1. Getting enough sleep. By far, the most important school health issue for most kids is getting enough sleep—about 10 to 11 hours a night for elementary school-age children.

2. Testing hearing and vision. You can't expect a child to learn if she's having trouble seeing the blackboard or hearing the teacher. So have your pediatrician screen for vision and hearing problems during your child's back-to-school checkup.

3. Packing a balanced and healthy lunch. It's a good idea to lay down some nutrition rules before your child heads into the lunchroom.

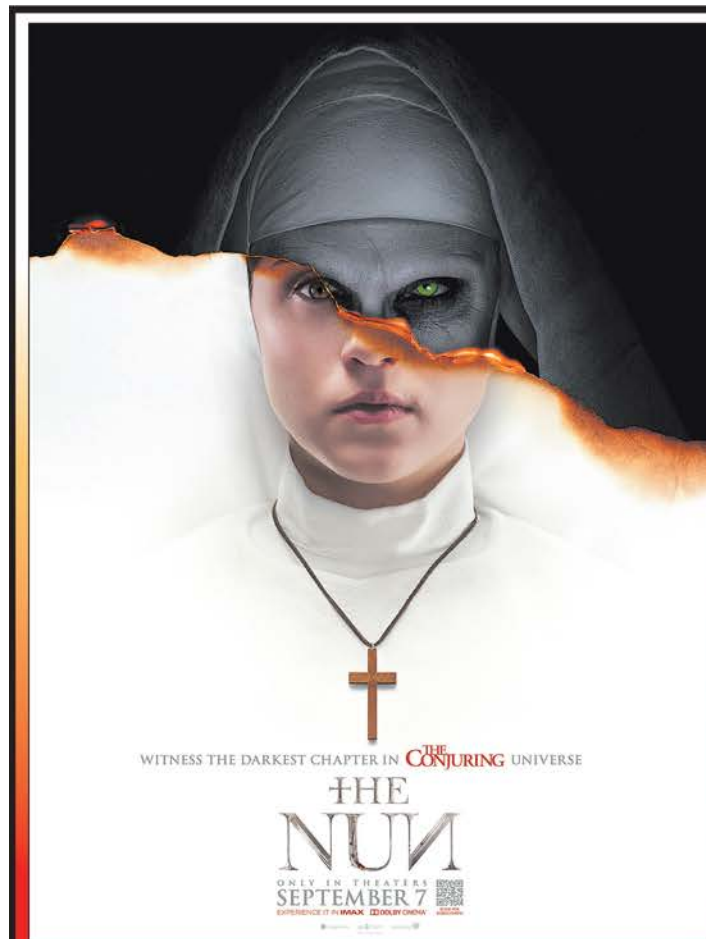

4. Hand washing. Good hand-washing habits are critical for school-age children. Children (like adults) need to wash their hands after they go to the bathroom and before they eat.

5. Calling in sick. If your child is sick, keep them home! This will help prevent the spread of disease in the school and keep other children healthy.

6. Review basic safety rules. If your child will be walking to school, go over the route together ahead of time to check out possible hazards, such as busy streets. Don't let a young child walk to school alone, and don't expect a slightly older brother or sister to provide adequate safety supervision. In carpools, seat belts should be a given, but remember to check out other drivers' safety standards well ahead of time. To protect your child from strangers, avoid writing his or her name on the outside of a backpack or jacket. Also teach them not to approach or talk to strangers.

7. Exercise. Kids need 20 to 30 minutes of regular, nonstop exercise a day.

"Senador John S. McCain; Lo conocí en Persona"

Por: Raoul Lowery Contreras

El Senador de Estados Unidos, John S. McCain, murió a los 81 años, el 25 de agosto del 2018. Lo conocí en persona.

Cuando las redes televisivas anunciaron que el Senador John McCain había ganado las primarias presidenciales republicanas de Florida, salté de mi silla y dije a mi madre inválida que en ese momento enviaba a su campaña una donación. Me preguntó ¿de cuanto? y yo le dije $100.00, me dijo, mándale lo mismo a mi nombre.

Mi madre toda la vida fue Kennedy Demócrata, por lo que su envió me sorprendió, a mi, su hijo, toda la vida republicano. A ella le gustaba el republicano McCain porque ELLA era miembro de "Greatest Generation" [La Mejor Generación] y adoraba a los héroes militares. John McCain era un héroe militar en su mente, en mi mente y en la mente de millones de estadounidenses.

Sobrevivir más de cinco años como prisionero de guerra durante la mayor parte de la Guerra de Vietnam lo hizo a él y a los prisioneros estadounidenses, héroes bajo cualquier definición. Siendo un periodista, comentarista de TV y de radio, presentador y columnista de periódico, así como profesional en la campaña republicana por casi 50 años, yo vivía y respiraba la campaña presidencial del 2008. Sin embargo, no pensaba mucho en el demócrata Barack Hussein Obama.

McCain corrió para presidente en el 2000; ese año yo apoyé al eventual ganador George W. Bush. Los medios adoraban a McCain. Los medios se anexaron a McCain – la quicuoencia maravilla política – atraía; dondequiera que fuera cientos de periodistas lo seguían a él y a lo que decía. Todo parecía indicar que John McCain derrotaría al favorito, el Gobernador de Texas, George W. Bush. Después vinieron las Primarias Republicanas de Carolina del Sur donde los medios sugerían que McCain tenía muchas probabilidades de ganar. No ganó; Carolina del Sur no apoyó al héroe McCain, votando por Bush.

McCain se estaba quedando solo

En un tibio día de septiembre del 2000, en San Diego, mi cara mitad y yo asistimos a una recaudación para el Congreso de San Diego, Brian Bilbray, en un hotel en la playa que presentaba al Senador John McCain. Antes del discurso del almuerzo, pedí al Congresista Bilbray que me presentara al Senador, ya que no había tenido oportunidad de conocerlo. Seguro. Nos encaminamos hacia el Senador y él tomó mi mano entre ambas suyas.

"Trabajé bajo el mando de su padre (Almiral John S. McCain Jr., fue el Comandante de todas las fuerzas del Pacífico, incluyendo mis marines); sonriendo, continué, "Hubiera trabajado bajo su mando si usted hubiera estado en el ejército". sin pestañear, el Senador de Estados Unidos John McCain me miró y me dijo, "F-ing Marine".

Tanto el Senador como yo reímos; todos en el salón nos miraban. El Congresista se veía como si estuviera pasando por un paro cardíaco. El Senador y yo intercambiamos un 'abrazo mexicano' y reímos de nuevo.

Cuando el almuerzo terminó, salimos del hotel y solo frente a mi estaba el Senador McCain esperando su auto. Sin entorno, sin el bullicio de los medios. Solo. Nos acercamos y hablamos con él, los tres solos. Mi cara mitad había comprado su nuevo libro en la Ciudad de Nueva York solo semanas antes y el lo había firmado en la librería Barner and Noble en las Torres Gemelas de la Ciudad de Nueva York, que serían destruidas un año después en otra tibia mañana de septiembre.

Cuando el valet trajo su auto el Senador me dio otro abrazo y se despidió con un "Que estés bien, Marine". Esos pocos minutos que pasé con John McCain fueron, en mi experiencia, inapreciables. He contado mi historia muchas veces desde entonces, especialmente a amigos militares. Todos rían. Una excepción: El Senador de E.U. John Kerry; el no se rió cuando le conté mi historia. Me alegro que le haya ganado Bush en el 2004; sin sentido del humor.

El Senador de Estados Unidos, de Arizona, John McCain, se convirtió en mi héroe personal ese día en el 2000 en San Diego. Cuando el candidato presidencial Donald Trump insultó a John McCain por no ser un "héroe" porque él, Trump, solo admiraba a hombres que no eran capturados, no podía creerlo.

El desagrado de Trump por John McCain continúa aún con la muerte del Senador el sábado por la tarde. Es vergonzoso; eso muestra la forma en que Trump ve Estados Unidos.

Cuando, dado esto, uno compara el carácter del Senador John McCain con cualquiera otro, se pueden encontrar pocos hombres que tengan la medida del Senador y que hayan pasado por 1800 días de tortura, golpes, huesos rotos sufridos por los prisioneros estadounidenses detenidos por los Comunistas Vietnamitas.

Los verdaderos hombres deben medirse por las normas que el Senador John McCain nos dejó como legado. Ojalá yo pudiera vivir de acuerdo a ellas.

Honro su vida y su servicio a nuestro país. Bravo!

A New Sex Pill Takes the Spotlight as the Viagra Patent is About to Expire

A patented pill costing less than $1 a dose stands to help millions of men with failing sex lives; no prescription will be required

By Ray Wilson
Associated Health Press

AHP— A new sex pill is set to take the spotlight with the Viagra patent about to expire. But unlike the former, it won't require a prescription and is priced just under a $1 a dose.

The new pill called Vesele is part of a new class of performance enhancers for men, which work instantaneously on the body and mind triggering arousal and firmer, harder erections.

Formulated with a special compound known as an "accelerator", Vesele can transport its active ingredients faster and more efficiently into the blood stream, where it begins to work its magic.

The patented ingredient blend initiates a process known as vasodilation, which causes arteries and vessels throughout the body to expand. This allows blood to flow directly to penis and genitals, resulting in harder erections which last longer. Cialis and Viagra are based around a similar concept.

But what makes Vesele so remarkable, and what these other sex pills can't do, is that also directs a small portion of this blood flow to the brain, which creates feelings of intense arousal. In laymen's terms, users become incredibly excited and turned on.

This is why the makers of Vesele say their pill has worked so effectively in clinical trials. It stimulates the two most important organs for great sex, the penis and the brain.

The Brain Erection Connection

Until now, medical researchers did not fully understand the brain-erection connection. It has now been made clear with Vesele. When both are supplied with a constant blood flow, men are harder and firmer for longer...and have unbelievable sex drives.

"Most of the research and treatment methods for men's sexual failures have focused on physiological factors and have neglected the emotional ones. For the leading sex drugs to work, like Cialis and Viagra, you need visual stimulation" explains Dr. Henry Esber, the creator of Vesele.

"And although they work for some men, the majority experience absolutely no fulfillment during sex.

According to research published by the National Institute of Health, 50% of men taking these drugs stop responding or can't tolerate their side effects...and on top of that they spend $50 per pill and it doesn't even work half the time.

This is what makes Vesele so different and effective. It floods the blood stream with key ingredients which cause arteries all over the body to expand. The patented accelerator speeds up this process even more.

The result is a rush of blood flow to the penis and brain, helping to create an impressive erection and a surging desire for sex. Often, this is all men need to get going. And when taken regularly, many men say they are energized and aroused all day."

Great Sex At Any Age

With the conclusion of their latest human clinical use survey trial, Dr. Esber and his team are now offering Vesele in the US. And regardless of the market, its sales are exploding.

Men across the country are eager to get their hands on the new pill and according to the research, they should be.

In the trial above, as compared to baseline, men taking Vesele saw a staggering 85% improvement in erection hardness over a four-month period. Their erections also lasted twice as long.

These same men also experienced an astounding 82% increase in the desire for sex (libido/sex drive) and an even greater improvement in overall satisfaction and ability to satisfy their partners.

Many men taking Vesele described feeling horny and aroused through the day. The anticipation before sex was amazing. They were also easily turned on. Their moods were more upbeat and positive, too.

Faster Absorption into the Blood Stream

Vesele is made up of three specialized ingredients: two clinical strength vasodilators and a patented absorption enhancer often called an accelerator. According to an enormous amount of clinical data, each is very safe.

Research shows that with age, many men lose their desire and interest in sex. They also struggle to produce an erection firm enough for penetration.

And although there are many theories as to why this happens (including a loss in testosterone) one thing is certain, inadequate blood flow is virtually always to blame. That's why sex drug manufacturers focus on blood flow, it makes your erection hard.

But what's more surprising, and what these manufacturers have failed to consider, is that lack of blood flow can also kill your sex drive. That's because blood supplies energy for the brain. This energy is required for creating brainwaves that cause excitability and arousal.

Studies show the Vesele stimulates the entire cardiovascular system, including the arteries that lead to both the brain and penis. The extreme concentration of the ingredients combined with the accelerator ensures that this process starts quickly.

The sexual benefits of Vesele are also multiplied as its ingredients build up in the system over time. This is why many men take it every single day.

Expiring Patent Opens the Door to a New Sex Pill: Vesele is a new pill that cost just $1 a dose does not require a prescription. It works on both body and mind to increase arousal and erection hardness.

Recent Studies Show Positive Effects on Women

In the same study referenced throughout, Vesele was also shown to have an amazing (and somewhat surprising) effect on women too. That's because the same arteries and vessels that carry blood and oxygen to the brain and genitals are the same in men and women.

"In our most recent study, women taking Vesele saw a stunning 52% improvement in arousal and sex drive. Perhaps more impressive, they also experienced a 57% improvement in lubrication.

You can imagine why some couples are taking Vesele together. Everything feels better. Everything works better. Everyone performs better. It's truly amazing."

A New Frontier of Non-Prescription Sex Pills

With daily use, Vesele is helping men (and women) restore failing sex lives and overcome sexual let downs without side effect or expense.

Through a patented absorption enhancer, the Vesele formula hits the bloodstream quickly, resulting in phenomenal improvements in erection firmness and hardness. By boosting blood flow to the brain, users also experience sexual urges and arousal they often haven't felt in years.
