Hispanic Heritage Month: John Pena

By: Ashmar Mandou

Little Village native John Pena's ingenuity and inquisitive disposition lights up his community. Literally. Pena is the President and General Manager of New Star Lighting, a division of 555 International and leading manufacturer of quality driven luminaries for over 30 years. "I welcome challenges. I welcome the opportunities that unfold to truly create fixtures that are useful to the city of Chicago, to hospitals, to businesses," said Pena. New Star Lighting has certainly presented Pena with such challenges as each day requires an unmeasurable amount of attention.

New Star Lighting built its business on superior customer service, flexibility and products engineered for challenging environments. New Star Lighting market segments include confinement, high abuse, vandal resistant architectural, cleanroom and healthcare. The company meet's the demands of the market with the ability to modify and customize most fixtures to the specification of the customer utilizing the most energy efficient light sources available. "What I love most about my position at New Star Lighting is the fact that it is a collaborative effort. When you walk through the doors, you are part of a family. We are a team; no man is a single island," said Pena. "The fundamental principle of a successful business is treating your employees like family, which is something that was instilled in me from very young. That and the importance of education." Pena has a Ph.D. in Applied Mathematics from Stanford University, received an MBA in International Business from Emory University and a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering and Mechanical from the University of Illinois at Chicago.

"I always loved education and always sought out opportunities to learn more. So that led me to work outside of Chicago in several other cities. Those experiences helped me develop my leadership qualities and I am so grateful to be able to bring my experiences back to Chicago." Pena specializes in high-growth commercial expansion with a focus on the development of enduring customer and partner relationships, while delivering innovative new products. His experience includes a broad and deep understanding of strategy and organizational development, and successfully creates new technologies for customers across all channels and cultures.

"As we celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month, I would like to remind youth to not be afraid of challenges. Instead, welcome them and learn, especially if you foresee yourself in leadership positions," said Pena. "Seek out opportunities, opportunities that aren't necessarily in Chicago. That would be my advice for youth who are interested in pursuing a career similar to my own. My advice would be to envision what you want in life and seek out those opportunities that will help you attain your goals. And take what you learn and bring them back home to teach the younger generation."

Mes de la Herencia Hispana: John Pena

Por: Ashmar Mandou

Nativo de La Villita, la ingenuidad e inquisitiva disposición de John Pena alegra su comunidad. Literalmente, Pena es el Presidente y Gerente General de New Star Lighting, una división de 555 International, fabricante líder de luces de calidad por más de 30 años. “Me gustan los retos. Aprecio las oportunidades que surgen para crear accesorios útiles a la ciudad de Chicago, a los hospitales, al comercio”, dijo Pena. New Star Lighting ciertamente ha puesto a Pena ante innumerables retos que requieren cada día una inmensa cantidad de su atención.

New Star Lighting estableció su negocio con un servicio al cliente superior, flexibilidad y productos imaginados para un ambiente de reto. Los segmentos del mercado de New Star Lighting incluyen confinamiento, alto abuso, arquitectura resistente al vandalismo, una sala limpia y cuidado de salud. La compañía cumple con las demandas del mercado con la habilidad de modificar y personalizar la mayoría de los artículos al deseo del cliente, utilizando las fuentes de luz con más ahorro de energía disponible. “Lo que más me gusta en mi posición de New Star Lighting es el hecho de que es un esfuerzo colaborativo. Cuando uno entra por esas puertas, se es parte de una familia. Somos un equipo; no un hombre en una isla desierta”, dice Pena. “El principio fundamental de un negocio exitoso es tratar a tus empleados como familia, que fue algo que se me inculcó desde muy joven. Eso y la importancia de la educación”. Pena tiene un Ph.D. en Matemáticas Aplicadas de Stanford University, recibió un MBA en Comercio Internacional de Emory University y un Bachillerato de Ciencias en Ingeniería y Mecánica Industrial de la Universidad de Illinois en Chicago.

“Siempre me gustó la educación y siempre busqué la oportunidad de aprender más. Eso me llevó a trabajar fuera de Chicago en varias otras ciudades. Esas experiencias me ayudaron a desarrollar mis cualidades de liderazgo y me siento agradecido de poder traer mis experiencias a Chicago”. Pena se especializa en ampliación comercial de alto crecimiento, con enfoque en el desarrollo de relaciones duraderas con clientes y socios, al tiempo que ofrece nuevos productos innovadores. Su experiencia incluye una amplia y profunda comprensión de la estrategia y el desarrollo organizacional y crea con éxito nuevas tecnologías para los clientes a través de todos los canales y culturas.

“Al celebrar el Mes de la Herencia Hispana, me gustaría recordar a los jóvenes que no tengan miedo a los retos. Al contrario, recíbanlos con beneplácito y aprendan, especialmente si se ven ustedes mismos en posiciones de liderazgo”, dijo Pena. Busquen las oportunidades, las oportunidades no están necesariamente en

Chicago. Ese sería mi consejo para los jóvenes interesados en seguir una carrera similar a la mía. Mi consejo sería imaginar lo que quieren en la vida y buscar las oportunidades que les ayuden a alcanzar sus metas. Y toma lo que aprendas y llévalo contigo a casa para poder enseñar a la generación siguiente.

USHLI, McDonald's Motivates Hispanic Youth in Chicago

McDonald's has partnered with the United States Hispanic Leadership Institute (USHLI) and CoolSpeak for the sixth consecutive year to present the USHLI Student Leadership Summit Presented by McDonald's. This year the tour made a stop in Chicago at the Elgin High School in an effort to motivate students to pursue a higher education; while also increasing awareness of the brand's support of the HACER National scholarship program and other scholarships available to Latino students. The education gap for Hispanic students in the U.S. is a reality that cannot be ignored. Although the rate of Hispanic students that obtain a college degree has increased during the last 10 years, the cost of attending college is still a challenge for many Hispanic students in Chicago. Finding the motivation to pursue a higher education can be just as challenging as financing their education. During the summit, students also learned about available resources and scholarships, such as McDonald's HACER® National Scholarship, on www.mcdonalds.com/HACER.

USHLI y McDonald's Motivan a la Juventud Hispana de Chicago

McDonald's se afilió con Hispanic United States Leadership Institute (USHLI) y CoolSpeak por sexto año consecutivo para presentar la Reunión Cumbre de Liderazgo Estudiantil USHLI ofrecida por McDonald's. Este año, la gira se detuvo en Chicago en la Secundaria Elgin, en un esfuerzo por motivar a los estudiantes a proseguir una educación superior; aumentando también la concientización del apoyo del programa de becas HACER National Scholarship y otras becas disponibles a los estudiantes latinos. La brecha de educación para los estudiantes hispanos en E.U. es una realidad que no puede ser ignorada. Aunque el índice de estudiantes hispanos que obtienen un diploma ha aumentado durante los últimos 10 años, el costo de asistir a la universidad es aún un reto para muchos estudiantes hispanos de Chicago. Encontrar la motivación suficiente para perseguir una educación superior puede ser tan desafiante como financiar su educación. Durante la reunión, los estudiantes aprendieron también sobre los recursos y becas disponibles, como la Beca HACER® National Scholarship, en www.mcdonalds.com/HACER.

Michele Clark High School Receives Gym Makeover

ON partnered with the non-profit Lift Life Foundation to transform the school's outdated gym at Michele Clark High School, 5101 W.

Harrison St. Michele Clark was among dozens of high schools who vied for the renovation. ON and Lift Life chose the school in December based on its compelling video application featuring students at the school. Michele Clark is in an area that struggles with crime and economic conditions -nevertheless, the school had a 100 percent graduation rate last year. The renovation was unveiled on Friday, Sept. 28th with an open ceremony. Optimum Nutrition-sponsored athlete, Kelechi Opara attended the school to demonstrate the new equipment to students.

índice de graduación el año pasado. La renovación fue revelada el viernes, 28 de septiembre, en una ceremonia abierta. La atleta patrocinada por Optimum Nutrition, Kelechi Opara, asistió a la escuela para demostrar el nuevo equipo a los estudiantes.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

Churches Bring #MeToo to The Pulpit

Courtesy of We Will Speak Out Coalition

High profile cases of pastors and priests both perpetuating sexual violence or covering up domestic violence have dominated the media in recent months. As a nation we have witnessed a rush to silence or blame women by individuals claiming to represent entire denominations. This harsh reality inspired the call to faith leaders to submit sermons about domestic and sexual violence and resulted in over 150 submissions from 28 states, 3 countries, and 20 different faith traditions. Sojourners has launched an interactive website featuring 100 sermons and resources on making churches safer sanctuaries for survivors. The sermons can be searched by location, scripture, or denomination.

Jenna Barnett, Women and Girls Campaign Coordinator for Sojourners, stated, "The church has much to lament. We must acknowledge the harmful messages we've sent to victims and survivors: to stay in dangerous marriages at all costs, to shame women for the sexual violence someone else inflicted. But we also work to provide a new message from our pulpits: that Jesus wants your liberation, not your suffering. That Jesus prioritizes the vulnerable, not those who abuse their power to harm the vulnerable. We need more faith leaders to break the silence on domestic and sexual violence from within the walls of their own sanctuaries."

In a recent survey commissioned by Sojourners, IMA World Health, the We Will Speak Out coalition and conducted by LifeWay Research, there was a significant increase in the number of pastors speaking about domestic and sexual violence, with 51 percent of pastors in 2018 claiming to speak with their church about the topic several times a year or more, as opposed to 34 percent in 2014. According to Jenna Barnett, "Sermons announce a church's priorities. By preaching from the pulpit on domestic and sexual violence, pastors send a message to survivors that they are seen, believed, and that the church is working to be a trauma-informed space that can nurture your healing and connect you to other experts in your community." "Sojourners is spotlighting these 100 sermons because we want to resource and inspire other faith leaders to follow the bold example of pastors all across the country and all across the theological spectrum who are breaking the silence on domestic and sexual violence. Sermons alone cannot end this violence or the pain left in its wake. But sermons can announce a church's decision to prioritize victims and survivors over perpetrators. These are not easy sermons to preach, but we worship a savior who never shied away from tough conversations," said Jim Wallis, President and Founder of Sojourners.
