State Agencies Encourage People to Prepare for Winter Weather

While the official start of winter is not for several weeks, parts of Illinois have already experienced the first snowfall of the season. The Illinois Emergency Management Agency (IEMA), Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH), Illinois Department of Labor and the National Weather Service (NWS) are encouraging people to begin preparing now for extreme cold, snow and ice. In terms of weather, 2019 has been a record-breaking year in Illinois. The new year brought a Polar Vortex that crippled most of the Midwest, including blanketing Illinois with life-threatening temperatures for several days. Unfortunately, no matter how low the temperature dips, many Illinois workers will face the frigid elements to do their jobs. Cold weather is never pleasant, but by taking some precautions, workers can minimize the dangers. Caution and self-awareness are the keys to cold weather safety.

Workers should know the signs of hypothermia, not push their bodies to an extreme, layer clothing and make sure they have plenty of fluids to avoid dehydration. To help Illinois residents prepare for winter, IEMA and the NWS developed a winter weather preparedness guide that covers winter weather terms and tips for staying safe at home, in the car and at school. The guide is available on the Ready Illinois website at www.Ready.Illinois.gov.

Ex-Madigan Aide Alaina Hampton Launches #MeToo Support Group

Alaina Hampton, the woman who came forward about workplace sexual harassment she experienced while working for the Democratic Party of Illinois and Friends of Michael J. Madigan as a political staffer and campaign manager, announced on Wednesday that she will be launching Chicago's first "#MeToo Meetup" beginning next month. "After the NPR profile came out about my experience with anxiety and lack of recovery options, some women reached out to me on social media expressing they had similar problems," said Hampton. "One woman stuck out to me because she said she has searched for support groups regarding this specific issue and couldn't find any. That's where this idea came from." The first #MeToo Meetup will be held on Tuesday, December 3, 2019 from 6p.m. to 8p.m., at Great Central Brewing Company, 221 N Wood and will feature special guest State Rep. Kelly Cassidy discussing legislative actions taken over the past year to combat workplace sexual harassment. Those who are interested in the group are encouraged to sign-up for more information on Hampton's website or to join the Chicago Workplace Sexual Harassment | #MeToo Meetup group.

Estación Austin en la Línea Verde (representación conceptual)

Recientemente, la CTA anunció su presupuesto propuesto para el 2020 que mantiene la línea de tarifas además del mismo nivel de servicio. Este presupuesto también continúa la inversión sin precedentes en la modernización del sistema, como el trabajo FastTracks, completado en la Línea Verde. Además, el presupuesto incluye varios proyectos del área oeste de la ciudad, como la rehabilitación completa de la estación Austin en la Línea Verde bajo el Programa de Accesibilidad de Todas las Estaciones de CTA, para que sea totalmente accesible. Incluso, este presupuesto instalara nuevas estaciones de carga de alta velocidad para autobuses eléctricos en Chicago Avenue y Austin Boulevard.

Estos proyectos representan una inversión significativa en su comunidad y ayudan promover empleos y oportunidades de contratación.

CPS Proposes Amended School Calendar and Budget for 2019-20 School Year

Chicago Public Schools on Tuesday announced amended calendar and budget proposals for the 2019-20 school year, which add make-up school days and reflect additional revenue and investments for Fiscal Year 2020. Last week, CPS agreed to make up five of the 11 school days missed due to the teachers' strike, and families are being notified this week of the amended calendar and budget plan. As part of the agreement to end the CTU strike, CPS committed to making up five of the 11 instructional days that were missed during the strike. The make-up days must be scheduled on days on which teachers and CTU staff would not otherwise be paid, which severely limited the district's scheduling options. The following proposed make-up days are spaced over a series of dates during the school year that were not previously scheduled as student attendance days and a small number of additional school dates at the end of the school year:

- Wednesday, Nov. 27, 2019
- Thursday, Jan. 2, 2020
- Friday, Jan. 3, 2020
- Wednesday, June 17, 2020 (previously scheduled as a School Improvement Day for staff, which has been moved to June 19)
- Thursday, June 18, 2020 (previously scheduled as a School Improvement Day for staff, which has been moved to June 22)

For additional information on the amended FY20 budget proposal, please visit cps.edu/budget.

Low Back Pain and the Connection to the Opioid Epidemic

By: Dr. Michelle Graham, Chief Medical Officer, UnitedHealthcare of Illinois

For the millions of Americans with low back pain, the condition can range from a minor nuisance to a major disability. For some, it may even lead to opioid use and abuse. In fact, opioids are prescribed for nine percent of people with new-onset low back pain, ranking it the most common reason for an opioid prescription. Nearly 70 percent of people experience low back pain at least once in their lifetime, and about one-quarter of adults in the United States report experiencing the condition in the past three months. The causes vary, including previous injury, aging, muscular issues or arthritis of the spine. Recognizing the connection between back pain and opioids is important considering that almost two million people in the United States experience opioid use disorder, and more than 47,000 Americans each year die from overdoses related to prescription or illicit opioids. With that in mind, consider these tips to help reduce the risk of low back pain and complications:

Stay Active: While some people with low back pain may be tempted to consider bed rest, studies show that remaining active is the best option in most cases. Activities to consider include walking and swimming, while yoga and tai chi have been shown to ease moderate to severe low back pain. Avoid long hours of sitting, as this can reduce mobility and hinder recovery.

Consider Care Options: The American College of Physicians (ACP) recommends non-surgical options for initial treatment, including physical therapy, chiropractic care, acupuncture and over-the-counter anti-inflammatory medicines. Osteopathic manipulative treatment, a hands-on technique that includes stretching and gentle pressure, has been shown to reduce back pain. In fact, these noninvasive care options help 95 percent of people with back pain recover after 12 weeks. Muscle relaxants and imaging, such as an MRI, should be secondary options, and surgery should be a last resort. Opioids should be avoided. However, certain “red-flag” symptoms, such as fever or loss of bladder and bowel control, may require immediate testing and intervention.

Recognize the Risks of Digital Devices: The average American spends nearly three hours per day on smartphones, which can contribute to poor neck posture. This forward-drop to look at the screen may change the natural curvature of your spine, placing strain on your neck muscles. Instead of tilting your chin down, raise the device to eye level. Also, avoid tucking your mobile device between your ear and shoulder, and instead use a speakerphone or headset.

Stay Safe at Work: When standing or sitting at your computer or workstation, make sure your shoulders are in a straight line over your hips and your ears are directly over your shoulders. Generally, when working at a computer, people’s hands, wrists and forearms should be straight, in-line and parallel to the floor to help reduce the risk of musculoskeletal issues. Even for people with chronic low back pain that lasts more than two months, only a small percentage will need to have more invasive procedures or surgery. By taking preventive steps – and selecting evidence-based care approaches – you may help reduce the risks and complications associated with low back pain.
