Students, Teachers Expected to Return to CPS Monday

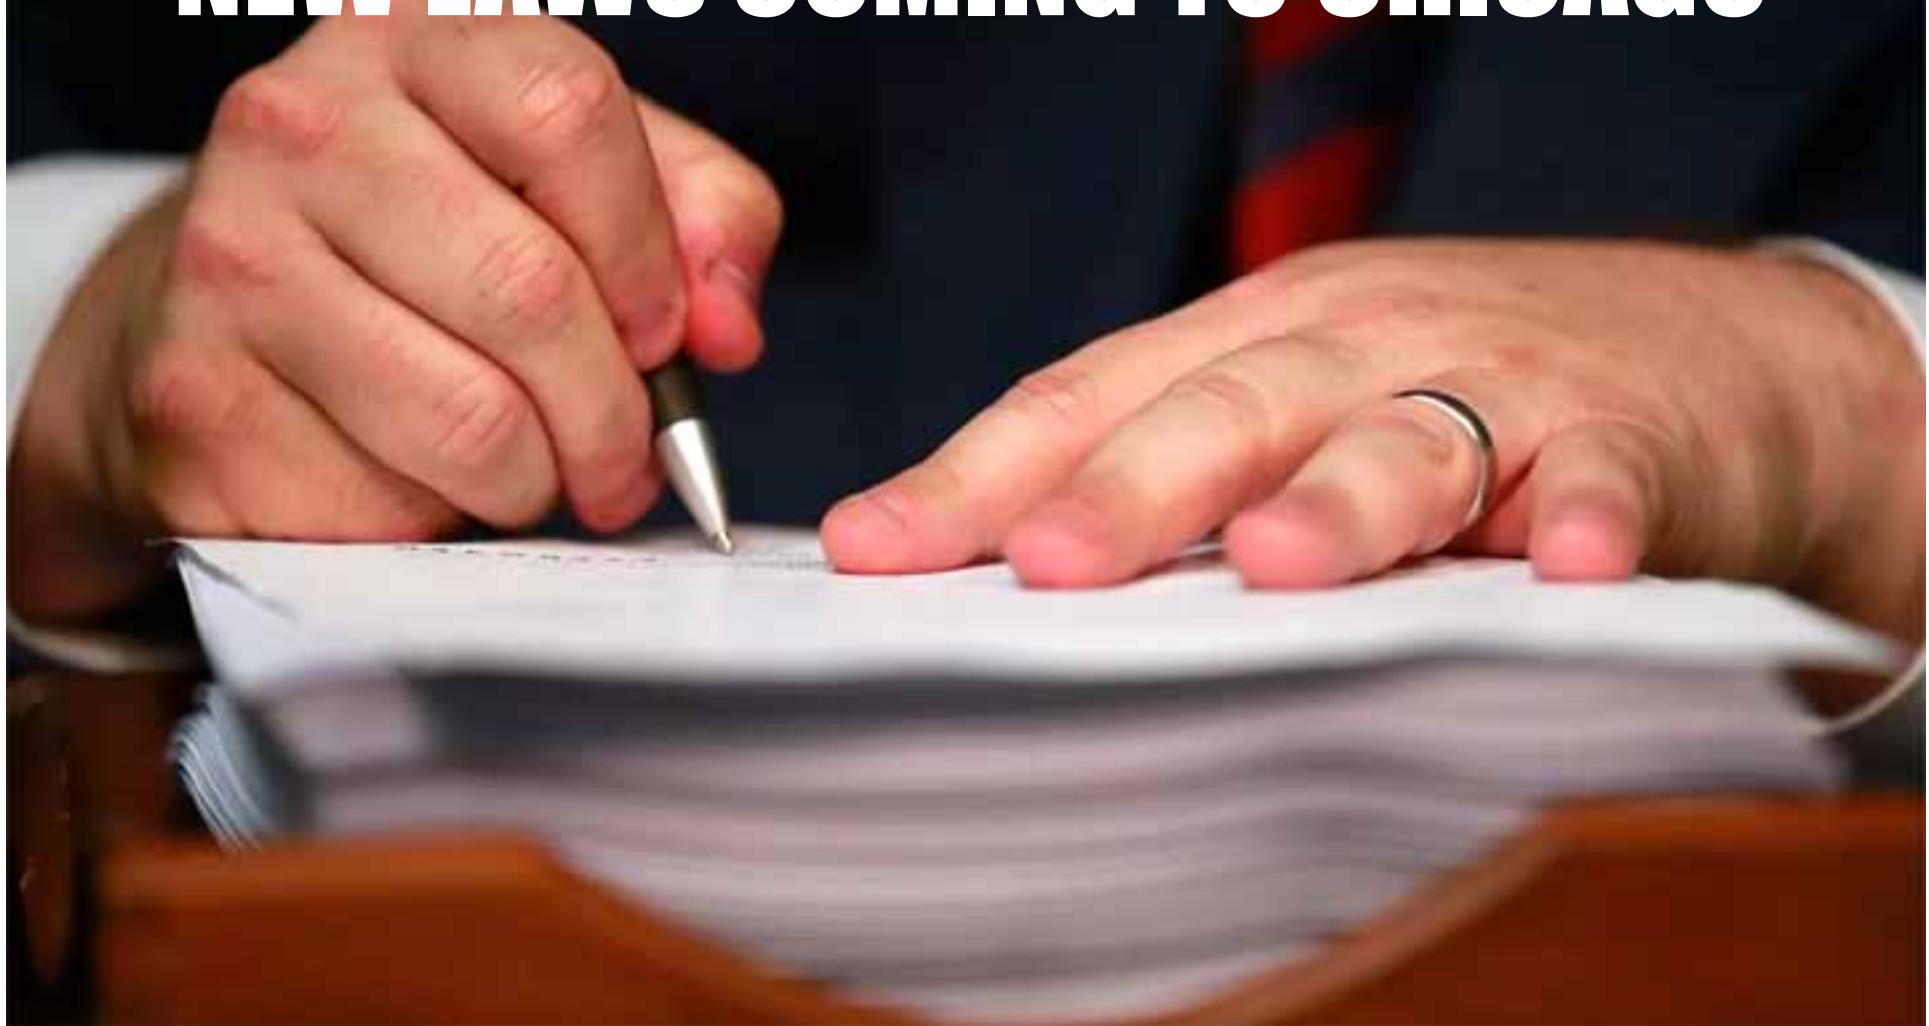

By: Ashmar Mandou

In an open letter from Chicago Public Schools Chief Executive Officer Janice K. Jackson and Chief Education Officer LaTanya D. McDade, CPS plans to begin opening school buildings for families who choose to return following winter break. Students enrolled in pre-k and moderate and intensive cluster programs will have the option to return on Monday, Jan. 11th, 2021, and students in k-8 will be able to return on Monday, Feb. 1st, which has left the Chicago Teachers Union (CTU) in a predicament. CTU, which hosted several Zoom press conferences throughout the week, continues to vocalize their concerns over health risks from in-person learning. “Thousands of rank and file educators, clinicians and support staff want the right to continue working remotely because they or a family member are at higher risk of illness and death should they contract COVID-19. CPS’ response has been to refuse to allow educators to ask for an accommodation if family members are at risk — and even to deny members with serious personal health risks like brain cancer the right to work remotely,” said in a statement from CTU on Wednesday. “Half of the pre-k and special education cluster teachers in elementary and high schools scheduled to start teaching from school buildings Monday refused to work in-person on January 4, electing instead to continue teaching students safely by remaining remote. Workers who did go in on Monday have also reported serious safety issues at their schools — and a reluctance to return to buildings that lack even the most basic safety protocols that CPS has been promising for months — but has yet to deliver to buildings.”

Weighing in on the conversation, Congressman Jesús “Chuy” García issues his statement regarding in-person education. “While we value education and the opportunities it offers students from all walks of life, it is critical to make educational decisions with a health consideration during this global pandemic. I echo the concerns from many educators, parents, and students in my district troubled by the in-person return to the classroom. Chicago, like many urban centers, continues to suffer from an alarming number of COVID cases and deaths. Latinos comprise the largest share of virus cases in the city, and unfortunately, many of the COVID hot zones are found in my district. It is no coincidence that working-class, Latino, and Black families are disproportionately impacted during this pandemic -- the same families who represent our educators, parents, and students.”

CTU members reported issues that ranged from no sinks or hot water sources for handwashing to lack of PPE and filthy classrooms. Most schools still have no nurse or health care worker on site during En una carta abierta de la Funcionaria Ejecutiva en Jefe de las Escuelas Públicas de Chicago, Janice K. Jackson y la Funcionaria de Educación en Jefe, LaTanya D. McDade, CPS planea comenzar a abrir los edificios escolares para las familias que decidan regresar tras las vacaciones de invierno. Los estudiantes inscritos en Pre-K y programas clúster moderados e intensivos tendrán la opción de regresar el lunes, 11 de enero y los estudiantes de K-8 podrán regresar el lunes, 1º de febrero, lo que ha puesto al Sindicato de Maestros de Chicago (CTU) en un predicamento.

CTU, que acogió varias conferencias de prensa de Zoom durante la semana, continúa vocalizando

Se Espera que Estudiantes y Maestros de CPS Regresen a las Aulas el Lunes

su preocupación sobre los riesgos de salud del aprendizaje en persona. "Miles de educadores de base, médicos y personal de apoyo quieren el derecho a seguir trabajando de forma remota, porque ellos o un miembro de su familia tienen un mayor riesgo de enfermedad y muerte si contraen COVID-19". La respuesta de CPS ha sido negarse a permitir que los educadores soliciten una adaptación si los miembros de la familia están en riesgo. – e inclusive niegan a los miembros con graves riesgos de salud personal, como cáncer cerebral, el derecho a trabajar en forma remota", dijeron en una declaración de CTU el miércoles.

"La mitad de los maestros de Pre-K y de educación especial clúster en escuelas elementales y secundarias, programados para empezar la enseñanza desde los edificios escolares el lunes, se negaron a trabajar en persona el 4 de enero, eligiendo continuar enseñando a los estudiantes en forma segura, manteniéndose alejados. Los trabajadores que se presentaron el lunes, han reportado también graves problemas de seguridad en sus escuelas – y la renuencia a regresar a los edificios que carecen inclusive de los protocolos de seguridad más básicos que CPS ha prometido durante meses – pero que aún tienen que instalar en los edificios".

Sopasando la conversación, el Congresista Jesús "Chuy" García expide su declaración sobre la educación en persona. "Aunque valoramos la educación y las oportunidades que ofrece a estudiantes de toda procedencia, es indispensable tomar decisiones educativas con consideración a la salud durante esta pandemia mundial. Hago eco a las preocupaciones de muchos educadores, padres y estudiantes de mi distrito, preocupados por el regreso en persona al salón de clases. Chicago, como muchos centros urbanos, continúa sufriendo un alarmante número de casos y muertes de COVID. Los latinos comprenden la parte mayor de casos del virus en la ciudad y desafortunadamente, muchas de las zonas más cándentes del COVID se encuentran en mi distrito. No es una coincidencia que la clase trabajadora de familias latinas y negras se vean desproporcionadamente impactadas durante esta epidemia – las mismas familias que representan nuestros educadores, padres y estudiantes".

the pandemic, and CPS has continued to refuse to test aging school ventilation systems for their ability — or failure — to prevent spread of the virus. According to CPS, to help prevent the spread of COVID-19, every classroom will have a HEPA air purifier that will remove 99.99 percent of airborne mold, bacteria, and viruses. By placing a HEPA air purifier directly in the classroom near students and staff, we can better capture particles, clean the air, and reduce the risk of indoor transmission of viruses and bacteria. Families are able to check the status of their child's classroom by visiting, cps.edu/airquality.

FSIS Issues Public Health Alert

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) is issuing a public health alert for approximately 49 pounds of frozen, fully cooked, not shelf stable chicken sriracha ravioli products due to misbranding and an undeclared allergen. The product may contain soy, a known allergen, which is not declared on the product label. FSIS is issuing this public health alert out of the utmost of caution to ensure that consumers with allergic reactions to soy are aware that these products should not be consumed. The product labeled as "FRESH THYME FARMERS MARKET CHICKEN RAVIOLI Ovals" was formulated with a different sriracha chili sauce than normally utilized in the product formulation because the firm was unable to obtain the usual brand from their supplier. The sriracha chili sauce used on Dec. 8, 2020 contains soy, while the sauce normally used in the formulation does not. These items were shipped to distributors/sold in retail in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. Consumers with food safety questions can call the toll-free USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-888-MPHotline (1-888-674-6854) or live chat via Ask USDA from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. (Eastern Time) Monday through Friday.

Pappas: “If You Didn’t Vote, Don’t Complain”

Cook County Treasurer Maria Pappas released a study which reveals the properties in Chicago and the suburbs with the largest property tax increases since 2000, dramatic examples of how the tax burden has soared on homeowners and businesspeople. Called “The Top 50,” the report lists the 50 Property Index Numbers (PINs) with the largest tax increases from 2000 to 2019 in Chicago and the suburbs, both residential and commercial. The report is a new chapter in “The Pappas Study,” an unprecedented study that shows the county’s tax bills virtually doubling over 20 years, an increase that is nearly triple the 36 percent rise in the cost of living index. “If you don’t exercise your right to vote, then you have no right to complain about how property taxes have climbed since 2000,” Pappas said, noting the low percentage of the voting-age population that participates in elections. According to the Top 50, the residential properties with the largest property tax increases from 2000 to 2019 are:

- In Chicago, a condominium on East Lake Shore Drive, where the tax bill jumped 1,890 percent, from $6,731.71 to $133,954.83

- In the suburbs, a two-story residence on Ardsley Road in Winnetka, where the tax bill grew 1,174 percent, from $53,014.39 to $675,486.36

Less than 29 percent of the voting-age population in the Chicago area has cast ballots in elections held since 2011, Pappas said. In the suburbs, the percentage is just 26 percent.

Pappas: “Si No Votaste, No te Quejes”

La Tesorera del Condado de Cook, Maria Pappas, publicó un estudio que revela las propiedades en Chicago y los suburbios con el mayor aumento en impuestos de propiedad desde el año 2000, dramáticos ejemplos de como la carga de impuestos ha escalado para propietarios y comerciantes. Llamado “Los 50 Primeros”, el reporte lista los 50 Números de Indice de Propiedad (PINs) con el mayor aumento de impuestos del 2000 al 2019 en Chicago y los suburbios, tanto residencial como a Los 50 Primeros, las propiedades residenciales con los mayores aumentos en impuestos de propiedad del 2000 al 2019 son:

- En Chicago, un condominio al este de Lake Shore Drive, donde la cuenta de impuestos subió 1,890 por ciento, de $6,731.71 a $133,954.83

- En los suburbios, una residencia de dos pisos en Ardsley Road en Winnetka, donde la cuenta de impuestos creció 1,174 por ciento de $53,014.39 a $675,486.36

Menos del 29 por ciento de la población en edad de votar en Chicago ha depositado boletas en las elecciones desde el 2011, dijo Pappas. En los suburbios, el porcentaje es de solo el 26 por ciento.

Various City Departments and agencies are informing Chicago residents, workers and businesses of new local laws, regulations and deadlines that they should be aware of in 2021. These new laws include: the implementation of important protections for Chicago's workers; regulations to reform the shared housing industry to ensure safe and responsible operation; the extension of relief measures for businesses; and the legalization of Accessory Dwelling Units in pilot areas among others. For more information, visit www.chicago.gov.

Minimum Wage

Chicago's minimum wage will increase to $15 an hour at large businesses and $14.50 an hour for workers at businesses with 20 or fewer employees. Also on July 1, the minimum wage for tipped workers will increase to $9.00 an hour, with employees required to make up the difference if base wage plus tips do not equal $15.00 an hour. This effort, styled as the "Fight for $15", was the culmination of years of efforts on the part of organized labor and workers' rights advocates, and pushed to resolution through Mayor Lightfoot's efforts to bring businesses of all sizes to the table.

Shared Housing Reforms

In September 2020, City Council passed an ordinance that reforms the regulation of the Shared Housing industry in Chicago. As part of this landmark ordinance, a series of new regulatory measures will come into effect on April 1, 2021 that will ensure public safety and accountability within the industry. As part of this new regulatory structure, Chicagoans that use platforms like Airbnb or HomeAway among others to rent their residential units will now need to

New Laws Coming to Chicago

Llegan Nuevas Leyes a Chicago

Varios Departamentos de la Ciudad están informando a los residentes, trabajadores y empresarios de Chicago de nuevas leyes, regulaciones y fechas límites locales que tienen que tener en cuenta en el 2021. Estas nuevas leyes incluyen: La implementación de importantes protecciones para los trabajadores de Chicago; regulaciones para reformar la industria de vivienda compartida para garantizar operaciones seguras y responsables, la extensión de medidas de ayuda para el comercio; y la legalización de Unidades de Vivienda Accesoria en áreas piloto, entre otras. Para más información, visitar www.chicago.gov.

Salario Mínimo

El salario mínimo de Chicago aumentará a $15 la hora en negocios grandes y $14.50 la hora para trabajadores en negocios con 20 empleados

o menos. El 1º de julio, el salario mínimo para los trabajadores con propina aumentará a $9.00 la hora, con empleados que requieran hacer la diferencia si el salario base más propinas no iguala los $15.00 la hora. Este esfuerzo, llamado "Lucha por los $15", fue la culminación de años de esfuerzos como parte del trabajo organizado y abogados de los derechos de los trabajadores e impulsado a una resolución a través de los esfuerzos de la Alcaldesa Lightfoot de llevar a todas las empresas a la mesa de negociaciones

Reforma de Vivienda Compartida

En septiembre del 2020, el Concejo de la Ciudad aprobó una ordenanza que reforma la regulación de la industria de la Vivienda Compartida en Chicago. Como parte de esta ordenanza histórica, el 1º de abril del 2021 entrarán en efecto una serie de medidas regulatorias que garantizarán la seguridad y responsabilidad pública dentro de la industria. Como parte de esta nueva estructura regulatoria, Los residentes de Chicago que usen plataformas como Airbnb o HomeAway entre otras para rentar sus unidades residenciales, necesitarán ahora hacer su solicitud directamente con el Departamento de Protección al Consumidor y Asuntos Comerciales y hará un nuevo pago de inscripción de $125. Esto mejorará la capacidad de la Ciudad de garantizar que se cumplen las regulaciones y exigir el cumplimiento, cuando sea necesario, a ubicaciones problemáticas.

Tarifas de Parquímetro

Consistente con la legislación aprobada el año pasado y de acuerdo con el cálculo en la misma, las tarifas de parquímetro para las zonas de $2 la hora aumentarán $0.25 a $2.25 la hora el 2 de enero. Las tarifas de la zona de $4.50 y $7.00 no cambiarán. A través del arduo trabajo en apply directly with the Department of Business Affairs and Consumer Protection and pay a new $125 registration fee. This will improve the City's ability to ensure regulations are being met and take enforcement when necessary against problem locations.

Parking Meter Rates

Consistent with legislation passed last year and in accordance with the calculation therein, the parking meter rates for the $2-per-hour zone will increase by a quarter to $2.25 per hour on January 2. Rates in the $4.50 and $7.00 zone remain unchanged. Through the hard work in managing this contract of over the years, the City will begin to generate revenues off the parking meter contract for the first time since its inception.

la gestión de este contrato a lo largo de los años, la Ciudad comenzará a generar ingresos con el contrato del parquímetro por primera vez desde su inicio.
