El Proyecto de Ley Antidoxing se Acerca un Paso más al Escritorio del Gobernador Pritzker

Por Ashmar Mandou

La legislación anti-doxing introducida a la Asamblea General de Illinois en febrero por la representante estatal Jennifer Gong-Gershowitz (D-17) está ahora un paso más cerca al escritorio del Gobernador JB Pritzker para que sea convertida en ley. La Ley de Responsabilidad Civil por Doxing (Proyecto de la Cámara 2954), llena una brecha importante en la ley actual de Illinois y provee a las víctimas con un recurso legal cuando malos actores publican su información personalmente identificable, con la intención de hacerles daño. HB2954 ha sido aprobada por ambas cámaras de la Asamblea General de Illinois y ahora se encabeza hacia el Gobernador Pritzker, donde el apoyo lo exhorta a convertir el proyecto en ley. "Este es un siguiente paso muy promisorio en nuestros esfuerzos para dar voz a las víctimas del doxing y responsabilizar a las personas por el odio y el acoso en línea", dijo David Goldenberg, director regional de ADL Midwest.

El Doxing es una forma de acoso utilizado para amenazar e intimidar a la gente compartiendo su información personal, que muchas veces incluye la dirección de su casa y su trabajo. "El doxing es una amenaza creciente en el moderno espacio en línea y es vital para la seguridad pública de Illinois que nuestras leyes evolucionen para cumplirlo”, dijo la Representante Estatal Jennifer Gong-Gershowitz (D-Glenview). “Demasiada gente ha enfrentado ya las consecuencias de este horrible abuso y merecen un camino hacia la justicia”. La HB2954 es apoyada por numerosos grupos de derechos civiles y anti-odio, que incluye a Illinois Coalition Against Domestic Violence (ICADV), Access Living, Ascend Justice, Chinese American Service League (CASL), y

Chicago Urban League por nombrar algunas. La HB 2954 permite a las víctimas de doxing buscar daños monetarios y cualquier otra forma de alivio bajo la ley de Illinois de su atacante. También permite que los jueces tengan autoridad para proporcionar medidas cautelares a las víctimas, lo que significa que el tribunal puede obligar al doxer a detener sus actos ilegales. El proyecto de ley está redactado para no limitar el discurso u otras formas de expresión bajo la Constitución de los Estados Unidos o Illinois.

Opciones de Greater Chicago Food Depository Partner Pantry para Participantes de SNAP Cuando Terminen los Beneficios de Emergencia por la Pandemia

Cuando los beneficios del programa SNAP de emergencias (Programa Suplementario de Asistencia en Nutrición) fue eliminado hace dos meses el pasado marzo, tomó por sorpresa a muchos participantes del programa, incluyendo a Tim Wennerberg, de 59 años, quien vive en el barrio de Woodlawn de Chicago. Winnerbert recibía $260 al mes en beneficios de SNAP, gracias al suplementario de emergencia introducido en abril del 2020 para ayudar a la gente a comprar comida durante la pandemia. Debido a un cambio de política federal en el proyecto de Omnibus Appropriations, aprobado a finales del 2022, Wennerbert ahora recibe $60 al mes. “¿Quién puede vivir con eso? preguntó, de pie ante la despensa de comida en First Presbyterian Kimbark, lugar afiliado de Greater Chicago Food Depository. “Eso es cortarlo de golpe”. El inesperado cambio dejó a Wennerberg y a muchos otros como él que viven con problemas económicos, luchando por encontrar fuentes de comida alternativas en un momento en que el precio de los alimentos aún está muy elevado. Wennerberg agradece haber encontrado la despensa de comida en First Presbyterian Kimbark hace seis años. Está usando la despensa para suplementar lo que puede comprar con sus beneficios de SNAP, pero ahora dependerá solamente de la despensa de comida. Gail Robinson, quien administra el Mercado de Comida Gratis del First Presbyterian Kimbark, se preocupa de que otros participantes de SNAP como Winnerbert, hayan todos experimentado una reducción en su ayuda mensual.

El mercado ya experimentó un aumento en la asistencia y Robinson se está preparando para que eso dure algún tiempo. “Aumentaremos nuestra base de voluntarios y estamos abiertos a aumentar

Foto: El participante de SNAP Tim Wennerberg agradece recibir comida y carne de la despensa de comida First Presbyterian Kimbark, afiliada a la despensa Greater Chicago Food Depository nuestras horas de operaciones”, dijo. Greater Chicago Food Depository trabajó con sus más de 800 despensas asociadas y otros sitios afiliados para alertar a los participantes de SNAP sobre el cambio de beneficios poco después de haber sido anunciado. El Equipo de enlace de beneficios, sin fines de lucro, provee ayuda gratis a los participantes para asegurarse que se registran para todos los beneficios del programa a los que son elegibles. El equipo también está refiriendo a los participantes de SNAP a la vasta red de despensas de alimentos gratuitas y otros programas de comidas disponibles en todo el condado de Cook. Laura Linton, madre soltera de dos hijos, confía en la despensa de First Presbyterian Kimbark para poner comida en la mesa para sus hijos. Comparte la frustración de Wennerberg sobre los cambios de SNAP. “Cortan la ayuda de emergencia cuando los huevos cuestan aún cinco dólares. No lo entiendo”, dice. Cuidar a su hijo de 16 años que padece del espectro del autismo, hace difícil que Linton mantenga un empleo, así que la comida que recibe de la despensa es vital. “Doy las gracias por este lugar”, dijo. Otra cliente de la despensa, Carolyn Rhodes, ex maestra de pre-escolar, agregó, “Nadie quiere acudir a la despensa, pero uno tiene que hacer lo que tiene que hacer”.

Rhodes dijo que su presupuesto de comida se ha casi duplicado en los meses recientes. Le encantan los omelets, pero el aumento de los precios de la comida y la disminución de los beneficios significa que ya no pueden comerlos. En vista a estos retos, la despensa de comida es aún más indispensable. “Este lugar merece sobrevivir”, dijo Rhodes. Encuentre una despensa de comida cerca a usted en chicagosfoodbank.org/find-food. Si vive en Austin, Englewood, o Lawndale, puede recibir asistencia gratuita haciendo su solicitud a SNAP/Link, Medicaid y otros beneficios a través de Benefits Access Network. DCASE Announce $10M in Grant Support to 77 Nonprofit Arts Organizations

Mayor Lori E. Lightfoot and the Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events (DCASE) announced 77 “Chicago Arts Recovery Program” grantees, providing $10 million in project grant funding to aid local arts organizations still recovering from the COVID-19 pandemic. This new program, combined with DCASE’s annual “CityArts Program” providing $6.5 million in general operating support (with new grantees to be announced in July), totals $16.5 million in direct support to Chicago arts nonprofits in 2023 — the largest in DCASE’s history. The new “Chicago Arts Recovery Program” supports marketing and audience development, facilities, technology, planning, and workforce development for nonprofit arts organizations. Supported by federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding, this program provides arts organizations with resources to examine and address ongoing challenges brought on or exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic. The grants awarded range from $50,000 – $235,000 and include participation in learning cohorts. The list of grantees is available at ChicagoCulturalGrants.org. DCASE is currently accepting ideas for the “Neighborhood Access Program” through May 19, 2023 — providing support for all types of community-based arts and culture activities. Photo Credit: Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events

Pediatric Brain Tumor Survivor Enjoys Memorable Day at Wrigley

Flynn McGuire, a 10-year-old Cubs fan from Yorkville, Ill., who underwent a craniotomy to have a brain tumor removed at the age of 1, enjoyed a memorable afternoon Friday at Wrigley Field. Flynn served as Advocate Health Care's Honorary Cubs Bat Kid this afternoon as the Cubs took on the Miami Marlins. Flynn, who was accompanied by his father, Dan, mother, Emma and sister, Hazel, sat in the dugout and enjoyed batting practice before the game, receive a customized jersey, a baseball for players to sign and was featured on the video board and Marquee Sports Network during the game. "This was pretty special," said Flynn's father, Dan. "For Advocate and the Cubs to have us out here like this and to see that other people are appreciative of what Flynn has been through. It really puts into perspective how lucky we really are. "Flynn is a shy kid, doesn't really like the spotlight on him. But today I think is another one of those realizations for him about how lucky he is, not only to be alive today, but to be here today experiencing all this." The highlight of Flynn's day was getting to meet his favorite player, Nico Hoerner, and also getting his autograph. "That was really cool," said Flynn with a big smile. On September 25, 2013, Flynn, who had just celebrated his first birthday the day before, suffered a seizure and become pale and unresponsive. After being rushed to Advocate Children's Hospital he was diagnosed with obstructive hydrocephalus, which is fluid buildup in the brain. He had a large brain tumor and needed a craniotomy and resection. He is doing well today and comes in for surveillance imaging.
